BIG STOCK BONUS GIVEN PROMOTERS OF TOLL BRIDGES

How Alton St. Louis and Chain-of-Rocks-Kings-highway Securities Have Been Placed.

All of the common (or controlling) stock of the two corporations creating three highway toll bridges in the immediate vicinity of St. Louis has been distributed without charge, largely among the financiers and promoters for services rendered, although the company gave considerable stock as a bonus to debenture purchasers and as extra compensation to the chief engineer.

This information was furnished by spokesmen for the corporations in an inquiry by the Post-Dispatch following the attack in Congress by Congressman Cochran on the growing tendency to authorize toll bridges without financial limitations which he deems adequate. Congressman Cochran did not single out the structures being erected here nor criticize their backers, although he did refer to a Chicago business promoter who has sought to sponsor other bridges here.

The Alton-St. Louis Bridge Co., constructing twin crossings, one over the Mississippi River at Port Jefferson and one over the Mississippi at Alton, with a five-mile connecting highway. The Chain-of-Rocks-Kingshighway Bridge Co., erecting a structure at Chain-of-Rocks with a highway to Mitchell, Ill. Control of each rests in the so-called common stock.

Get Stock for Financing Work.
Fifty thousand shares of this common stock have been issued by the company, and are outstanding. Three St. Louis banking houses which handled the financing retain the controlling shares, which they carry on their books. The figure, since no market value will be established for the stock until traffic develops. They are Oliver J. Anderson & Co. and the W. R. Hamilton Co., with 10,351 shares each, and Bittling & Co. with 7988 shares, a total of 28,690 shares. These houses consider themselves entitled to this stock because of their services in financing the project.

State Senator A. L. McCawley of Carthage, Mo., a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, is the promoter. His only compensation, which he and the bankers feel is none too large, is 5000 shares of the stock. He conceived the idea on noticing the terrain from a Pullman car, and obtained the Federal charters, then interested the bankers. John D. McDann, business manager of the Alton Evening Telegraph and a leader of the group which raised a considerable part of the necessary money in the Alton community, received 1000 shares.

Half of the $700,000 in debentures was sold in Alton and vicinity and buyers there received two shares of the stock with each $100 of debentures to foster good will where it was most needed, the bankers explain. The ratio for the remaining half, sold elsewhere in the country, was one share for each $100 debenture purchase. These bonuses used up 10,500 shares.

Some of the debentures were floated through Stix & Co. and other banking houses, and to these firms 2500 shares of the stock were given in lieu of larger discounts on the debentures. Meredith C. Jones, a partner of Anderson & Co., received 300 shares as a special bonus for his activity in the financing. Ten qualifying shares were required for the 10 directors, most of whom represent the bankers. John L. Harrison of Harrison, Howard & Harrison, Kansas City engineers erecting the bridges, received 1000 shares because it was felt the compensation by contract was not enough.

The Chain of Rocks company has 60,000 shares of common stock authorized and outstanding. Of this the promoters and builders, John R. and Thomas J. Scott, brothers, retain two-thirds for their compensation, and one-third went to the bankers for financing services. The bankers are H. M. Bytley & Co. and E. H. Rollins & Sons of Chicago. The Scotts, who are contractors, assert they were paid to keep control of their corporation because of the anticipated toll business, which made the bankers satisfied with a smaller share.

Bonds Sold at Par.
While only $700,000 in 7 per cent debentures of the Alton company have been issued, an additional $200,000 was authorized but not expected to be needed. The security of this corporation is $1,150,000 in 7 per cent first-mortgage bonds authorized and outstanding. These were sold to the public by the three St. Louis banking houses at par. Thus the houses dealt furnished the company with $2,450,000 cash. Bridge and road contracts in force amount to $1,604,610, but some additional items, including lights, remain to be contracted for.

Securities of the Chain of Rocks company, aside from the common stock, aggregate $2,250,000 par outstanding or $2,025,000 net. Included are $1,400,000 in 6 1/2 per cent first-mortgage bonds, $600,000 in 7 per cent debentures and $250,000 in 7 per cent preferred stock. Total of preferred stock authorized is $400,000 but the balance is not expected to be issued. The bonds and debentures were sold to the public at $2 ($190 par) by the two Chicago banking houses.

The Scott brothers said the preferred stock was disposed of on a basis of $30 per share, realizing $45,000 net from the Scotts and their friends. $45,000 from the bankers and $90,000 from the erection contractors, who arranged to accept 1000 shares as part of their compensation. Towards the value of preferred stock they took personally, the Scotts applied $35,000 which they say they had spent for a traffic survey, right-of-way for the western approach and other expenditures.

Expenses to be met from the proceeds of securities, subject to revision on final check, are: Bridge contracts, $1,500,000; right-of-way and road building, $200,000; interest on funded debt during construction period, $175,000. It is proposed to retire the preferred stock from earnings as soon as possible, the Scotts said, and an agreement with the bankers provides that they shall be no dividends on the common until the preferred is retired.

Charter Provisions.
The Congressional charters of both the Alton and Chain of Rocks companies, like others issued recently, provides that either the States served or their political subdivisions, singly or jointly, may buy or condemn the bridges and approaches at any time, if it is determined to be more than 20 years after completion of the bridges allowance shall not be made for good will, going value or prospective profit, but only for original cost, less depreciation and plus betterments, and also for actual financing and promotion cost not exceeding 10 per cent of original physical cost. It is provided further that the sum paid for public acquisition. The Alton twin bridges are expected to be in service by July and the Chain of Rocks bridge by October. H. H. Ferguson, president of the Alton Terminals Co., is president of the Alton-St. Louis Bridge Co., and John R. Scott is president of the Chain of Rocks-Kingshighway Bridge Co.

JEWELER KITED CHECKS WHEN

UNEMPLOYMENT CUT INCOME

Unemployment, resulting in inability of the laboring man and woman to keep up time payment accounts, was a contributory cause in the failure of the Ben Barnett Jewelry Co., 1002 Olive street, according to Arnold J. Bennett, president of the concern, who testified before Referee in Bankruptcy Colos yesterday.

Barnett said the concern was incorporated in 1920 with a capital of $25,000. In 1925 the books showed a surplus of $11,000, in addition to the $25,000 capital account. Last year, however, time payment business was attended with many difficulties, and Barnett said he had to "kite" checks in an effort to keep up with obligations. Barnett, questioned concerning check "kiting," said his practice was to obtain a check from his brother-in-law, L. Grossberg, to be used in meeting pressing debts and give a post-dated check in return. A number of the post-dated checks failed to clear the banks and, on Jan. 13, last, four days before the concern was placed in bankruptcy, Grossberg demanded payment of a $1400 loan. Barnett testified that he paid his brother-in-law by turning over all the concern's available cash, about $700, and then pawned diamonds to complete the payment. The firm still owes Grossberg $335, Barnett said.

1000 CHERRY TREES ORDERED FOR PARK

Japanese Variety to Be Used in Landscape Work Through Gift to City.

A thousand Japanese cherry trees, through a $15,000 gift of Samuel Moffitt, New York capitalist, formerly of St. Louis, are to be planted in Forest Park in connection with a $35,000 landscaping project for Government Hill, Park Commissioner Pape announced today.

Government Hill, surmounted by the World's Fair pavilion and overlooking a section of the lagoons, already is elaborately terraced and landscaped, a chief attraction for scenic sightseers in Forest Park. Pape said the new project would make it the finest in any American park.

The rare and beautiful Japanese cherry trees are to line Grand drive and Government drive, above the lagoons at the foot of the hill, and to frame the landscaped "pictures" on the terraces. Chief of these are to be two large pools with a fountain and an 11-foot cascade, flanked by smaller pools, each surrounded by the trees.

The trees bloom in early May, and the Park Commissioner plans to have the work finished, if possible, in time to have a "Cherry Blossom Week" in St. Louis this summer comparable to the event in Washington, D. C., when the Japanese cherry trees about the Tidal Basin come into bloom.

The type of tree to be planted in Forest Park bears no fruit. Its blossoms are larger than ordinary cherry blossoms and in the spring they cover its branches with a mass of varying shades of pink.

The upper pool will be 75 by 95 feet and the pool below the cascade will be 80 by 195 feet, with smaller pools at either side. Each pool is to be made an exhibit of aquatic plants and lilies.

Park Commissioner Pape is to go to Narberth, Pa., Monday to select the trees from a nursery there. They are rare in this country, expensive and under embargo to prevent importation of plant disease and harmful insects from the Orient, but much sought after for their decorative form and foliage as well as their fragrant blossoms in blooming time. They are of two types, one of 5 or 6 feet in height, and the other about twice as tall. The trees cost $10 to $15 each.

Moffitt and his wife, who was Miss Belle Adams of St. Louis, were in Japan at the time of the cherry festival several years ago. He had wished to make some gift for the parks of his home city, and became interested in the idea of transplanting some of this beauty of the Far East to St. Louis.

He is a son of the late William G. Moffitt, who came to St. Louis in 1854 from Pittsburgh, and has two brothers here, Andrew J. Moffitt, an employee of the Street Department, and Charles S. Moffitt, a retired grain broker. Prior to removing from St. Louis 30 years ago, he was connected with the Richardson Drug Co.

MURDERED WOMAN'S EX-SUITOR GIVES ALIBI

G. W. Heilig, 22, Proves He Was Home Night Mrs.
Yohannan Was Slain.

Satisfied with his alibi, police this afternoon released George William Heilig, 22 years old, of 1337 North Fifty-third street, East St. Louis, who was arrested last midnight and questioned in the murder last Monday night of Mrs. Grace Yohannan, 24, of 1814A O'Fallon street.

Heilig had been attentive to her before and after her marriage about a year ago to John Yohannan, a soldier at Jefferson Barracks. But, police said he explained, she kept him in ignorance of her marriage and he did not learn of it until March 11, after he had become suspicious of references to "Dan" in her letters. After that, he told police, he ceased keeping company with her.

In a letter found by police in Heilig's room, she had asked him to meet her Monday night, when she was shot near her home, but Heilig said he ignored it and remained at home with his brother and sister. Those two and neighbors corroborated his statements, Detective Sergeant Drewes, conducting the investigation, said.

Heilig agreed to appear at the coroner's inquest which will be resumed at 10 a. m. Saturday. Heilig, a native of Woodlawn, Ill., told police he met "Grace Lockman," as she was sometimes known, about four years ago and once asked her to marry him. She continued, after her marriage, to write him affectionate letters and chided him for his negligence when he ceased to keep engagements with her, police said.

He is employed as a chauffeur at an East St. Louis planing mill. Returning from work about 5:30 p. m. Monday, Heilig had dinner at his brother's home, he told police, and retired about 9:30 p. m., after a visit from neighbors. Mrs. Yohannan was slain about 9:20 p. m. as she was returning from the Marquette Hotel, where she was employed. "I'm dying for nothing," were her last words, it was testified at the inquest.

EX-SOLDIER GONE EIGHT YEARS; HE AND WIFE HAD WED OTHERS

Shell-Shocked Man, Formerly of Kansas City, Found in Ohio
After Mental Lapse.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, March 22.—William Furlong, 42-year-old shell-shocked World War veteran, was found at his home in the small town of Detroit, Ill., in Pike county, today, after he had been given up as dead by his family.

Eight years ago Furlong disappeared from his home in Kansas City, Mo. It was a recurrence of the old shell shock, said his friends. After a long search, his wife, leaving him dead, married E. R. Sala and is living at Overland Park, Kan.

Today the veteran's brother, Lawrence Furlong of Kent, O., is on his way to Chicago in search of the "lost" member of the family. Lawrence received a letter the other day, apparently signed by his brother, from the Naval Hospital at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. It said: "I guess I have been insane most of the time, for I haven't known where I was."

"My brother coming to see me?" Furlong exclaimed over the telephone today. "The past eight years? Oh, I've been working some at my trade of carpenter and living here much of the time. Married?" Sure.

But it was to a second marriage in Detroit that Furlong referred. He could recall nothing of having left a wife in Kansas City.

STEFANSSON THRIVES ON ALL-MEAT DIET

Completes 24-Day Test to Prove Its Wholesomeness in Temperate Zone.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 22.—After 24 days on an all-meat diet Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer, declares he feels more optimistic, ambitious and energetic and ascribes this to his dietary experiment. When he started the experiment on Feb. 26 he felt "lackluster," but now he feels like "jumping out of bed and getting right to work."

The test was conducted at Bellevue Hospital under auspices of the Russell Sage foundation of pathology, which has been studying diets since 1913. The foundation announced the only conclusion it could draw at this time was that an all-meat diet was as satisfactory in New York as in the Arctic.

During seven of the 11 years he spent in the Arctic, Stefansson lived entirely on meat. Eskimos, who eat only meat, never have scurvy and are in perfect health, he says.

Another Arctic explorer, Karlsten Anderson, on the all-meat diet since Jan. 24, gained back during the latter part of the period a pound more than he lost in weight at first. Stefansson has lost about ten pounds overweight anyway.

"I am convinced the meat diet is an excellent one. It would be too expensive. The meat of various kinds which I consume is equivalent to three sirloin steaks, and might cost $3 to $6 a day at current restaurant prices."

Stefansson left the hospital yesterday, but will continue to eat only meat for about six months, submitting to constant medical examination.

PROMOTER HELD ON FAKE DRAFT CHARGE

"Sucker" List Found in Sam
Fulton's Room; Says He Was New York Broker.

Arrested by police last night in connection with the passing of a worthless draft, a man who said he was Sam Fulton, formerly a bond broker of New York, was turned over to Postoffice Inspectors today after he had told police that the collapse of his New York bond house caused a $400,000 loss to investors.

Inspector Noah said Federal authorities here knew nothing about the New York bond house collapse, but that Fulton had left a trail of false stock promotions through a number of cities, particularly Cleveland and Cincinnati. In his room at the St. Regis Hotel, 421 North Broadway, where he was arrested, police found a "sucker" list, containing the names of about 2000 persons in all parts of the country. They also reported finding a book of 60 blank drafts. Fulton was accused of passing a worthless $10 draft.

SAVED FROM TRIP TO HOSPITAL

Doctor told this man
how to avoid a common cause of rupture

LIKE so many, this man had a slight tendency to hernia. The doctor who examined him said there was no real rupture, only a weakness.

"Go easy," he warned, "and above all don't strain yourself in any way. One of the most common causes of rupture is excessive straining to relieve a congested system. Yet so few people ever suspect it. For one thing, take Nujol regularly. It will probably save you a trip to the hospital. I advise all my patients who've had abdominal operations to take it, too, to avoid the danger of another break."

Nujol, taken regularly, avoids this risk. It provides an easy, natural method of regulating body functions. Keeps everything normal without effort. It not only prevents the excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal.

A surprising number of people men especially—are susceptible to hernia. Take a tip from this man's experience and play safe. Take Nujol regularly. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Try it for 3 months and you'll never want to be without it again.

It certainly can do no harm to try it. Nujol contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. And it may save you real trouble. Be sure you get the genuine.

The Pipe of Inspiration

I can see him now sitting at the desk he loved so well. Late at night, and still hard at it, writing copy good to sell. And he smoked his pipe in silence, while his thoughts to business ran. Guess he's writing still, for father was an advertising man. First he'd scatter all his papers, till his desk top was a sight; Then he'd turn from his typewriter and gaze out into the night. But when once his thoughts had started, and the work for sure began, Dad would clean his pipe, and fill it from the little old blue can. Edgeworth! Bless your soul, you've guessed it! Dad was surely sold for fair. On that ready-rubbed tobacco, and he never seemed to care. Just how long and hard his hours, or how high the work was piled, All he wanted was the blue can, and he smoked his pipe—and smiled.

COPLEY DENIAL READ IN SENATE BY NORRIS

Publisher Cables He Sold Interest in Utility Two Years Ago and Explains Sale.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Investigation of charges made by Senator Norris of Nebraska that a number of newspapers in Illinois and California, controlled by Ira C. Copley, are identified with public utility interests, will be made by the Federal Trade Commission in connection with its inquiry into public utility financing.

John C. O'Laughlin, vice president of the Copley Press, Inc., has requested that the inquiry be pushed, and today a cablegram from Copley, denying any interest by him in public utilities companies, was read by Senator Norris in the Senate. Norris, who has read letters intimating that Copley was buying the papers for the "defense" of utilities, offered no comment to the cablegram, sent from Europe, which Copley said was "I know you are honest and fair." It read: "I sold my utility in January, two years ago, to Rollins and Pitkin, retaining only underlying interests. One year ago Pitkin sold to Rollins and two months ago Rollins sold to Insull. After my sale, I retained the presidency solely as a guarantee to thousands of local investors. However, I performed no executive act. "Since purchase by Insull, I have not been officer or director, and could not elect myself a director without his consent. I don't own any interest in any other utility. I have owned good newspapers for 25 years. I retained these while selling this utility, as they never had any relation."

"After resting a year and a half, it became evident to me that I must work, so I looked over the field and bought several more newspapers, the total about one-fifth of the Chicago Tribune or New York Times. "I have no alliance with or agreement with or understanding with any utility man or any utility interest in the world. You have been deceived by some man who does not know, I suspect by some enthusiastic municipal ownership believer who does not appreciate the necessity for fair treatment to someone whom he may suspect, whether guilty or not. If this statement is true, you owe me reparation of the reputation you have inadvertently done to me. If this statement is false, I amply deserve the contempt of all honest men."

SIX MEN RESCUED AT SEA

Taken From Nova Scotian Schooner 500 Miles East of New York.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Wireless reports received here tell of the rescue of the six men of the crew of the Nova Scotian schooner, General Byng, 500 miles east of New York, and indicated that the shipwrecked sailors will have to return home by way of Sweden. The report was received by the Swedish-American Line from its motor freighter Korsholm, outward bound for Stockholm. The report gave no details explaining why a rescue was necessary or what had become of the General Byng, a 196-ton craft, which was bound for St. Johns, N. F., from Kingston, Jamaica.

Try Losing 20 Lbs.

No Starvation No Abnormal Exercise

Learn what it means to be slender. What it means in new beauty, new health and vitality. You will always be glad that you know.

Wherever you look you can see that people have found a new way to reduce. Excess fat, once so common, is the exception now. Find out that scientific method in justice to yourself. That way is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. The slender figures which prevail today are largely due to that.

The use of Marmola requires no abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. Simply take four tablets daily until the excess disappears. Every box contains the formula and the reasons for results, so you will have no fear of them. The effects are due to a substance which Nature employs in the body to turn food into fuel and energy rather than into fat. It is the result of wide research and experiment by scientific men.

If you overweigh, you owe yourself, a trial of the help that has done so much. Take Marmola for a while and watch the change that comes. All the results will delight you, we believe. Order now, before you forget it. When reduction is so easy, why stay fat?

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists and health food stores. If your druggist is out, he will get them for you from the nearest health food store.

SHIPWRECK SURVIVORS FOUND ON BARREN ISLE

82 Men of French Sealer Taken to Cape Town From Indian Ocean Island.

By the Associated Press. CAPE TOWN, South Africa, March 22.—Carrying a story of hardships and privations suffered at Kerguelen, or Island of Desolation, in the Indian Ocean, 82 survivors of the French sealer Losere arrived here yesterday in the rescue ship Kildalkey.

From the time of the wrecking of the Losere off Kerguelen until the arrival of the rescue ship on March 3, the crew fought blizzards and Arctic conditions most of the time huddled in a small hut awaiting rescue.

One tragedy marred the rescue of the men—the death of one of their number, who sacrificed his life to save two others. While tramping in search of seal meat, three men were overtaken by blizzards and one of them, feeling his strength failing, insisted that his companions proceed, saying he would follow. Instead he dropped behind and froze to death.

Kerguelen Land, or Island of Desolation, is an uninhabited volcanic island in the Indian Ocean. It is covered with moss and inhabited by wild fowl, while the coasts are visited by large numbers of seals. The island was discovered by Kerguelen, a French navigator, about the year 1772.

TWO JOBLESS MEN END LIVES

Charles Beltz Shoots Self; Arthur Bequest Takes Poison.

Charles Beltz, 68, a butcher out of work, yesterday went into the back yard at his home, 2324 A Howard street, and shot himself in the head with a revolver, dying almost instantly.

Arthur Bequest, 45, of 3512 A Illinois avenue, who had vainly sought work for nine weeks, was standing at the kitchen sink last night with a glass in his hand when his wife asked, "What are you doing?" "I'm taking poison," he replied as he drank. He died 20 minutes later at city hospital.

WED 4 DAYS AFTER DIVORCE

New Wife Did Not Know of Children, So Gets Annulment.

The marriage of William T. Foley, powerhouse employe, and of Miss Ann Collier, a clerk, was annulled by a decree from Circuit Judge Hall this morning, on Mrs. Foley's petition. She alleged Foley had misrepresented his status to her before the issuance of their marriage license, telling her he was single, when he had three children by a previous marriage. He had been divorced Feb. 21, four days before their marriage.

Foley falsely told the marriage license clerk, she said, that he had been divorced a year ago. Miss Collier is 22 years old and Foley is 37.

CHICAGO POLITICAL BOSS KILLED AFTER IGNORING WARNING

"Diamond Joe" Esposito
Shot From Behind While Returning From Anti-Thompson Meeting.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 22.—"Diamond Joe" Esposito, 65 years old, whose meteoric career began as a day laborer in Brooklyn and ended as a Chicago political boss is dead. Fifty shotgun slugs were fired into his body last night as he was returning from a meeting of the political group with which he was affiliated—the Deneen, or anti-Thompson faction.

Three men shot him from behind. As he lay dying one pumped an extra charge from a double-barreled gun into his back. Then they fled in an automobile.

Yesterday Joe had been warned over the telephone to "get out of town or get killed." Less than a month ago, Philip Leonetti, who married Mrs. Esposito's sister, was slain in the same neighborhood, known as the old "Buddy Nineteenth," but now a part of the Twenty-Fifth Ward.

Trail of Bloodshed.
Esposito first came into prominence as a political leader in 1914. Gradually his power extended until 1920 when he became a candidate for ward committeeman on Senator Deneen's slate and after a bitter fight won the election. He was the only Deneen candidate in the city to win against the Thompson-Lundin faction.

Soon after began the trail of bloodshed that reached to his own doorstep last night, and which gave to his ward the sobriquet "The Bloody Nineteenth." A bomb was exploded at the home of Alderman John Powers. Then followed two slayings on the same day. Paul Labriola, a court bailiff for 15 years was shot and killed in the morning. The same afternoon Harry Raimondi was slain. Both were reported lieutenants of Alderman Powers.

The next month Anthony D'Andrea, Democratic ward leader, was slain. A few weeks later Joseph Laspara was assassinated. Esposito attended both funerals without his customary bodyguard and mourned both victims as his friends. The list continued until eight had been killed, but Diamond Joe emerged unscathed.

He had become the Republican ward committeeman, and was a candidate for re-election in the April primaries when he was slain.

Theories As to Cause.
Police believed warfare over liquor privileges was the cause of his death. Joseph P. Savage, opponent of Esposito in the coming primaries said: "Diamond Joe was murdered as a result of Senator Deneen's effort to use prohibition enforcement as a political measure before election."

It was said that liquor privileges in the ward recently had been curtailed and that Esposito had tried to recover to protect his friends in the business. Others traced it to a feud of the slot machine syndicate and attempted to connect it with recent bombings.

Friends of Esposito said they had implored him to leave town once but he was unable to do so because of the illness of his son, Joe, who is 13 years old.

Mrs. Esposito heard the shots that killed her husband and ran to the street to find him dying. He was dressed in his best clothes. On his hand was a diamond ring valued at $5000. Through the blood and dirt glistened his famous diamond buckled belt and in his pockets were several hundred dollars and bankbooks showing large balances.

Ralph and Joseph Varchetto, brothers, who were bodyguards of Esposito and were with him when he was killed, were held on a theory that might have "put him on the spot," gang parlance for leading a victim to his assassin. Police considered it strange that neither of the brothers was hurt although a fusillade of shots was fired, and that neither was armed.

MISSOURI EMPLOYMENT SITUATION UNCHANGED

Improvement Expected, Particularly in St. Louis, When Weather Gets Better.

By the Associated Press.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 22.—The volume of industrial employment in Missouri in February remained substantially the same as in January but indications are that marked improvement may be expected with the advent of spring, according to a report made public yesterday at the district headquarters of the United States Department of Labor here.

The contemplated building program, highway construction, municipal improvements and agricultural demands should result in the rapid absorption of all unemployed skilled and unskilled labor in Missouri, according to the report.

Lead and zinc mines continued on part time schedules during the month. Railroad shops curtailed their forces somewhat. Shoe factories, meat packing houses, wholesale hardware establishments, drug and grocery stores employed their usual forces. Further gains are expected in automobile assembling plants during March and April. There is still a noticeable surplus of clerical and factory labor.

The employment situation in St. Louis is summed up as follows: "Cold weather in February continued to affect all outdoor work in St. Louis and vicinity and a surplus of skilled and unskilled labor exists. Work on several large projects in an extensive public improvement program will be resumed as soon as weather conditions permit. While building tradesmen are plentiful, the surplus consists chiefly of non-resident craftsmen. Drug and chemical establishments, wholesale hardware houses, lumber and other major industries reported normal employment during the month. Motor assembling plants expect to increase their forces during the next six weeks. Competent farm labor was in more brisk demand than during January."

5 SHOT WHEN MAN RESISTS ARREST IN TENNESSEE TOWN

Newport Chief of Police, Wounded in Shoulder, Uses Prisoner as Shield in Firing at Aggressors.

NEWPORT, Tenn., March 22.—Two women and three men, including the chief of police, were seriously wounded here last night in a pistol duel on Main street. A fourth man, believed to be seriously injured, was being sought in the vicinity of the Asheville, N. C., pike where he had deserted an automobile in which he escaped from the scene of the affray.

The wounded women, who also fled in the automobile, were brought back to the city by a passing motorist, from whom they begged a lift.

The wounded man, Alex Buda, shot through the body; Mrs. Lois Price, shot in the abdomen and thigh; Wade Price, her husband, shot through the knee; Ruth Johnson, Asheville, shot in the head; William Bell, chief of police, shot through the shoulder, and B. C. Cline, who escaped, is believed to be wounded in the chest.

The shooting started after Bell, who had been notified to watch for an automobile carrying a disorderly party from Knoxville, had placed Price and Mrs. Price under arrest, as they stepped from their machine in front of a restaurant. Buda, the restaurant owner, accompanied the police officer.

As Price was being handcuffed, another automobile in which B. C. Cline and a woman were driving, pulled to the curb and Cline demanded that Price be released. As Bell started towards Cline, the latter began firing a pistol, shooting Bell through the shoulder. Bell drew Price in front of him as a shield and returned the fire, as Price's woman companion ran to Cline's machine.

One of Cline's shots struck Buda in the body and Bell's fire wounded the two women and Cline as they fled. Six miles from town Cline abandoned his machine and ran to the woods. The two women were brought to a hospital by a passing motorist.

DOWNTOWN BUSINESS MEN OPPOSE 'NO PARKING' PLAN

Of 277 Answers Received 248 Prefer Present One-Hour Arrangement.

Downtown business men overwhelmingly are opposed to the bill pending in the Legislature, Committee of the Board of Aldermen, to prohibit all daytime parking on the principal east-west streets of that district. It indicated in a canvass made for the Traffic Committee of the Safety Council.

Inquiries were sent to about 500 ground-floor merchants on Washington avenue, Locust, Olive, Pine and Chestnut streets, east of Twelfth boulevard, the thoroughfares affected.

Replies, reported to the Traffic Committee at Hotel Statler yesterday, were: 277 answers received; 248 prefer the present arrangement of one-hour parking except in the morning and evening rush hours; 22 favor the proposed change; of those opposing the prohibition measure, 167 offered no qualification, 34 favor the present law "if enforced," 30 think a change would be detrimental to business, seven believe the present parking period could be shortened, five point to business losses caused by "no parking" in the Chicago loop, and two suggested the streets in question here be made one-way.

MEN ON S-4 TRIED TO CUT WAY OUT OF SUNKEN VESSEL

Investigators Find Marks of Instruments Which Battered Steel Walls of Motor Compartment.

SALVAGE AIR LINE
IN WORKING ORDER

Had Rescue Workers Made Connection, Navy Board Learns, Life Would Have Been Prolonged.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, March 22.—Mule evidence that at least some of the 40 officers and men aboard the submarine S-4 when it was sunk by collision with the coast guard destroyer Paulding in December had sought in vain to chisel their way out of their steel tomb have been uncovered by the Naval Board of Investigation. The board is inspecting the craft, now in dry dock at the Charlestown Navy Yard.
The cozy debris of the motor and torpedo compartment decks has given up an assortment of cold chisels, hand wrenches and other battering tools. The walls of the motor compartment, scarred and battered by heavy blows, attested to the use to which the instruments had been put.
Steel Hull Battered.
One spot in the motor room, where 24 of the crew survived for many hours the sinking of their ship, showed clearly an attempt to chisel through the steel hull.
One by one the dying men in the compartments fore and aft of the pierced and flooded battery room and disabled control compartment had succumbed to the deadly and ever mounting accumulation of carbon monoxide gas. Some fell into the shallow water on the floor and drowned. Others met death in their bunks, the investigators found.
Another disclosure was that the submarine's salvage air line was in working order and in a test functioned perfectly. Had an air-line been connected to it in the early hours before rescue work turned to salvage operations, air could have been pumped into all parts of the S-4 to maintain life until the monoxide reached a fatal percentage.
Air Line in Order.
Commander Harold E. Saunders, who directed the salvage operations, on learning of this, said the submarine crew probably had opened the salvage air line and, when it leaked water, decided it was ruptured and closed it. This airline was not the same as the line to the ballast tanks, which was found broken.

NOTE—It would be illegal to publish this if not true.
"Nature's Warning of 'Danger Ahead'—A Healthy Bladder Does Not Act at Night."
Mrs. J. M. Alexander, Supon, Ohio, says in her own home paper, the Wayne News: "For 20 years I was troubled with burning and bladder acting up to 10 times every night. I tried many remedies but had no relief until I began Keller's Libiated Buchu. I now sleep all night. I am willing to help others by telling or writing my full experience."
Libiated Buchu acts on the bladder as sperm salts do on the bowels. Drives out foreign deposits and lessens excessive acidity. This relieved the irritation that causes "sleepless nights." The tablets cost 25 each at all drug stores, Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio, or locally at Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores.

$75,000,000 BOND ISSUE PETITIONS PUT IN CIRCULATION

Citizens' Committee Expects to Get 100,000 Signatures Instead of Required 35,000.

Approximately 100,000 signatures of Missouri voters will be obtained on petitions for the proposed $75,000,000 new state road bond issue, it is anticipated, although the minimum required is only about 35,000. Circulation of the petitions, which call for a vote in the November election on a constitutional amendment, began yesterday.

Volunteers enlisted by the Citizens' Road Bond Committee, of which Lloyd C. Stark of Louisiana, Mo., is general chairman, and which has headquarters at 1405 Federal Commerce Trust Building, are handling the documents. The law requires signatures of 5 per cent of the voters in 11 Congressional districts, to have the proposition put on the ballot, but in order to create the widest possible interest voters in all 16 districts and all counties will be solicited. The petitions must be filed with the Secretary of State by July 6.

Purpose of Bond Issue.

A statement by Chief Engineer Cutler of the State Highway Department accompanying the petitions, calls attention to the fact that the new bond issue will permit the following accomplishments:

Completion of the designated 1840-mile state road system by 1922 instead of 1927, the date proposed under the pay-as-you-go plan; early refunding to counties and road districts which have built highways as an advance to the state; construction of a $40,000,000 supplementary farm-to-market road system in all counties between 1920 and 1927, maintained by the state; widening of arteries into St. Louis and Kansas City and construction of additional broad ones; building of spurs to the state parks and filling other gaps.

Unless the bonds are issued or taxes are increased there will be no funds for the farm-to-market system, nor will there be authority for them outside the proposed amendment, the statement declares. The projected bond issue will be paid for by state motor license fees and gasoline taxes without increasing them or without levying a property tax.

The two leading good roads forces of the state, the Automobile Club of Missouri and the State Highway Commission—are in agreement on the proposed amendment and the Citizens' Committee was formed as a result of their cooperation. The two bodies had favored divergent schemes until the differences were settled by a special committee headed by Gov. Baker.

First Signers.
The first signers of petitions in their respective districts were directors of the club, members of the commission, and members of the citizens' committee, the Kansas City Automobile Club and other sponsoring organizations.

Blank petitions have been sent to Chambers of Commerce, other civic organizations, motor clubs, division headquarters of the highway commission and official garages of the Automobile Club of

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and after using one box of Ointment and three cakes of Soap he was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Ray Rader, Rt. 6, Pataskala, Ohio.

Anthony A. Buford of Ellington, Mo., general secretary of the citizens' committee, declared today that there seemed to be a tremendous sentiment in favor of the bond issue, indicated partly by numerous requests for petitions to be circulated.

CALIFORNIA U. TO MAKE STUDY OF 500 SETS OF TWINS

To Determine How Nearly Identical They Are at Birth and How They Retain Similarity. By the Associated Press. BERKELEY, Cal., March 22.—Efforts to determine how nearly identical twins are at birth, and to what extent they retain the similarity despite the influence of environment, will be made by the University of California in a study of 500 sets of twins.

Prof. H. E. Jones, director of research in the university's Institute of Child Welfare, announced the undertaking yesterday. He expressed the hope that the experiments would throw new light on vital elements in psychology.

Prof. Jones said observation of the children would be started as soon as possible after their birth. They will be examined periodically at home or in the laboratories. Elaborate equipment has been prepared for both physical and psychological tests. One test will consist of passing an electric current, too slight to feel, through the child's body while the child is asked to perform certain physical acts. Various emotional stimuli will then be applied. Delicate instruments will record how the physical actions and the emotions affect the body's resistance to electricity.

FORMER GOV. SPROUL OF PENNSYLVANIA DIES

He Received 84 Votes for President at 1920 G. O. P. Convention.

By the Associated Press.

CHESTER, Pa., March 22.—William C. Sproul, former Governor of Pennsylvania, died at his home near here last night. He was 87 years old and had been ill for many months, following an attack of pneumonia.

Sproul was widely known in business and financial circles. His last public appearance was at a dinner given by the Union League of Philadelphia at which President Coolidge was the guest of honor on Nov. 7. He is survived by his widow, a son and a daughter.

Sproul's business interests included railway and traction lines, coal mining, iron, steel and shipbuilding. Prior to his election as Governor in 1918, he had served 22 consecutive years in the State Senate. He frequently was referred to as the "father of good roads" in Pennsylvania.

The former Governor was a delegate to two national Republican conventions, and was a contender for the presidential nomination in 1920, receiving 84 votes on the first ballot.

Sproul was interested in science and sports. The Sproul observatory at Swarthmore College was his contribution to his alma mater. After his graduation he purchased part ownership of the Chester (Pa.) Times, on which he had worked as reporter.

Both Harding and Lowden, personal friends and strong contenders for the presidency, said Moore, "would have agreed to Sproul for Vice President. As it subsequently turned out Calvin Coolidge became the vice presidential nominee and succeeded to the presidency upon the death of President Harding."

FLORIDA DEMOCRAT NAMED TO U. S. TARIFF COMMISSION
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 22.—Frank Clark, a Democrat, of Miami, Fla., today was nominated for membership on the Federal Tariff Commission, to succeed Edward P. Costigan, who resigned and directed an attack on the commission and the administration.

Clark formerly was a member of the House from Florida.

FIVE PERSONS HURT BY EARTHQUAKE IN MEXICAN CAPITAL

Audiences Rush Into Streets From Theater When 7-Minute Seismic Disturbance Is Felt.

U. S. EMBASSY WALLS CRACKED BY SHOCKS

Center of Tremor Placed in Oaxaca, Where Numerous Casualties Are Reported.

MEXICO CITY, March 22.—A strong earthquake, perceptible for seven minutes in Mexico City, struck Mexico at 10:20 o'clock last night.

Five persons were injured in the capital by stones which crumbled from houses, and numerous casualties were reported in special dispatches from Oaxaca.

Startled by the tremors, audiences in the theaters became panic-stricken and rushed to the streets, many women fainting.

During the quake some sections of Mexico City's electric lights went off for one or two minutes, but there was no general interruption of the service.

Reports from the cities of Puebla, Vera Cruz and Oaxaca said the inhabitants were panic-stricken by the tremor and rushed to the streets from their abiding houses, fearing disaster.

The reports indicated that the center of the shock was southwest of Mexico City between Puebla and Vera Cruz, but apparently the disturbance was felt over all Central and Southern Mexico.

Many guests at hotels, including American visitors, ran into the streets, some of them in night dress. There were no reports of Americans being injured.

Today hundreds of Mexicans trudged to the shrine of Our Lady of Guadalupe. Mexico's patron saint near the capital, to offer thanks for their safety.

Several cracks were made in the walls of the United States Embassy residence. One crack appeared on the wall of the bedroom of Dwight W. Morrow, the American Ambassador. At the time of the shock Morrow was in the drawing room conversing with his guest, Dr. John C. Merriam of the Carnegie Institute. Both men passed in their talk only a few yards to the left of the crack.

Later when Morrow went to his bedroom he found a crack half an inch wide from the floor to the ceiling, with several smaller cracks branching out. This morning Embassy attaches found another crack on one of the outside walls of the residence, half an inch to an inch wide, from the ground to the second story.

Although the seismograph at the Tacubaya observatory first was reported thrown out of order by the shocks, the observatory today issued a bulletin stating that the earthquake lasted 27 minutes, 45 seconds, during which the tremor was perceptible for seven minutes.

St. Louis U. Seismograph Records Severe Earth Shocks.

The seismograph at St. Louis University recorded earth disturbances at a distance of about 1700 miles from St. Louis, last night, which the Rev. J. A. Macelwane, head of the University's seismological department, considered of great severity. The distance of 1700 miles would correspond with the locale of the Mexican shocks.

The University instruments first recorded the disturbance at 10:22 p. m. Calculations at the University set the time of the actual beginning of the disturbance in Mexico at 10:16 p. m., the "intervening time" denoting the number of minutes required for the shock vibrations to reach St. Louis. The seismographs show the disturbance to have lasted for more than two hours, the most severe wave being located at 10:32 St. Louis time. Father Macelwane said the shocks at times were so severe that the seismograph record was ruined due to the violent fluctuations of the electric light which, in the photography of its movements, makes the record.

RUSSIA CENSORS NEWS

VIENNA, March 22.—Bucharest dispatches to the Vienna newspapers report that the Rumanian Government has warned all foreign correspondents that any attempt by them to depict the situation in Rumania as revolutionary would cause their expulsion forthwith.

Eloquence

THE PORTRAIT OF A MAN AS GOVERNOR. By Thomas H. Dickinson. (Macmillan.)

Alfred E. Smith the Pathfinder to the open road all true lovers of humanity and the faithful believers in a genuine democracy are praying and looking for.

Mr. George Foster Peabody, who has furnished the foreword to this study of the famous Governor of New York, asks the foregoing question: "What is the meaning of the man?" Mr. Thomas H. Dickinson answers most decidedly in the affirmative. It is probable that many who are genuinely interested in Al Smith and sincerely want to know more about the man, may have more rather than less of the eloquence and abstract nature of this study, which seldom descends below the level of very lofty generalities and, at times, takes on something of the character of a metaphysical treatise. One may be substantially right in his conviction as to the fine qualities of a given person, and yet weaken his defense thereof by obvious overstatement. A man may have the stuff of a great president in him without in any way qualifying for a Messianic destiny; and there are moments when one detects a Johannine flavor in Mr. Dickinson's utterance.

"In making this study," says the author, "I have, as far as possible, divested myself of all attitudes, preconceptions and prejudices derived either from rumor or from knowledge regarding the personality of the subject of the sketch. I have limited my research strictly to the public records of the man as displayed in documents and in the history of his public life. At any rate, belong to us. They constitute the labor that the Governor of New York has performed day by day over a period of years in the public view. They are all that belong to us. Certain they are all that can have any real significance to us in attempting to form an intelligent opinion of the man, and Mr. Dickinson would have placed us in his debt had he shared more of his exact information with us and spared his artistic effort."

SHOW CASES. By Jacques Le Gern. (Macmillan.)

Short stories that are intended to be very "daring." The publishers say that some who read the book will exclaim: "Why, this is just what the author and editor put on the publisher's shelf. The stories, this reviewer is inclined to say nothing of the sort. There is nothing here that will be at all new or startling to anyone who is behind the scenes. The stories are more 'daringly' than this reviewer writes."

THOMAS A. WISE, COMEDIAN, DIES

Veteran Actor Last Appeared Here With Mrs. Fiske in "The Rivals."

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, March 22.—Thomas A. Wise, 62 years old, comedian and probably one of the greatest talents on the American stage, died suddenly last night in the thirty-fourth Street Hotel.

He had been ailing several months, although he played one of the leading roles in "Behold This Dreamer" up until four weeks ago, when he was forced to leave the stage through illness in Chicago. His wife was with him when he died.

Mr. Wise, although born in England, March 23, 1865, began his career in America, and it was here he made great success. In April, 1882, he made his debut as an actor at Dixon, Cal., and the following year he played with Joseph Grimmer's company. He next was with William Gillette in "The Private Secretary," remaining with that company until 1887.

New York Debut in 1888. When "Lost in New York" had its premiere at the Bijou Theater in 1888, New Yorkers first saw Mr. Wise when he essayed the role of Arthur Wilson. Two years later in a revival of "The Private Secretary" at the Lyceum, Wise was cast for the role of Gibson. In 1891 he was in the cast of "Mr. Wilkinson's Widow" and then followed leading roles in "Glorious," "Shall We Forgive Her?" "The Last Chapter" and "The Cuckoo."

Sept. 4, 1899, Wise made his London debut in the Strand Theater in "The Last Chapter" and later in the year played the leading role in "The Wrong Mr. Wright" at the same theater. Returning to New York in 1901 he played in "Are You a Mason?" at Wallack's and continued in the role two years.

After appearing in "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," "Home Folks," "The Little Cherub," "The Lady from Lane's," "Miss Hook of Holland," "The Gentleman From Mississippi," "An Old New Yorker," Mr. Wise, in May, 1911, was selected to play Joseph Jarvis in all star revival of "Lights of London."

"Shepherd of Lambs Club." His first appearance as Falstaff was in March, 1916, when "The Merry Wives of Windsor" was presented at the Palace, here. He next was seen in "The Christmas Let-

The latest addition to the Modern Readers' Bookshelf series. The author, who is literary editor of the London Morning Post, and widely known for his work on "The Heritage of Greece and the Legacy of Rome," presents a clear picture of the Middle Ages and succeeds in showing that those centuries were hardly so "dark" as is generally supposed.

These thirteen dramatic stories of wild animals are based upon the author's many years of experience as a field-naturalist. The illustrations are by Charles Livingston Bull.

ter, "Coat Tails," and again, in 1917, in "Palstaff." Then followed "Pals," "The Old Homestead," "The Man From Mexico," and "Barnum" in which he appeared as the master circus man; "The School for Scandal," at the Lyceum in 1923, in which he played Sir Oliver Surface. In 1924 he toured in "The Old Soak." Following that he joined Minnie Maddern Fiske and toured for two years in "The Rivals," which appeared in St. Louis.

Wise was member of the Lambs Club and perhaps one of the most popular players New York has known. Thirty-five years ago he married Gertrude Whitty and they usually traveled together.

Shortly after leaving the Lambs Club Tuesday he was stricken on the street and taken to his apartment. Yesterday afternoon he lapsed into a state of coma and never regained consciousness. He had been suffering two years with asthma, and a heart complication and his attending physicians gave heart disease as the cause of death.

HEIFETZ IS HEARD IN A FINE RECITAL

Small Audience Demands Many Encores at End of Violinist's Program at Odeon.

BY THOMAS B. SHELMAN.

Jascha Heifetz, the violinist with the graven image face who is touring in America again after a trip through the Orient appeared at the Odeon last night before a surprisingly small audience. The response that he met, however, must have compensated him for the leanness of the purse. Each number that he played was greeted with an unmistakable fervor and at the close of the program he had to play four encores before the crowd would go home.

Since, for one reason or another, it was the first time I had ever attended a Heifetz recital, I confidently expected to hear a prodigious mechanical dexterity, jeweled phrasing and a glacial tone. A number of commentators, professional and otherwise, had spoken about that glacial tone. What was disclosed last night was nothing of the sort and it now occurs to me that my innocent friends must have suffered a confusion of visual and auditory impressions.

For when Heifetz plays he exhibits what in stage parlance is known as a "dead pan." The expression on his face is that of a slightly bored High Priest or perhaps a superior floor walker and it never changes. Under the influence of that persistently unsmiling countenance a member of the audience whose ears are not as trustworthy as his eyes may possibly carry away the impression of coldness.

But Mr. Heifetz should be allowed the privilege of disposing of his face as he pleases as long as he plays as he did last night. True enough his sense of form is more important to him than the production of a lush, swooning tone but there is enough color and feeling in his music to satisfy anybody except a third-degree sentimentalist. As for his general technique—his bowing, phrasing and intonation—it is as near to flawless as it need be. He used this technique in last night's program with an exquisite sense of the inward meaning of what he was playing, though he exercised all the care one would expect from a poetic precisionist to keep his style purged of impurities or excesses.

Opening up with Vital's Chaconne he next played Lalo's Symphonie Espagnole and followed with a number of shorter pieces. Debussy's "La Fille aux Cheveux de Lin" was especially effective. Mr. Heifetz was accompanied by Isidor Achron.

Day by Day in London

By O. O. McIntyre

LONDON.

THIS is a first visit to London in winter and after a topsy-turvy trip across the choppy channel, the town seemed to drop in the mantle of this gray. To the heart beat of London has a brisk murmur like an overtone of solidity and is stimulating and marrowy.

London has an imperial stolidity that is more noticeable coming out of easy-going France. It accentuates the difference between a republic and a monarchy. Here you feel it would be less majestic to whoop in the street or "dunk" slinkers in your coffee. Dignity is enthroned.

Even servants appear superior, and you sense a faint sneer behind their "Very good, sir." A hotel courier corrected me the first stop. I told him to carry a black valise. "You mean the portmanteau?" he inquired. "I was tempted to reply: 'I mean the black valise and how are His Majesty's knock-knees?'"

Taxis start here at a shilling—some one and six—and are higher for long hauls than in New York. Coming out of Victoria one sees the usual London huddle-bubble-bobbies with comic chin-strapped helmets, newspaper vendors enshrouded in billboards with screaming banners, bonneted old Cockney women selling Scotch heather for ha-pence.

Also crippled service men, their breasts glittering with decorations, selling matches; the kerb hawkers; the stream of lumbering buses, cris-crossed with gaudy ads; the bleary and bloated froth-blowing coves who stagger from pub to pub; spats, monocles and silk hats at noonday.

There is something comfortable about London's sooty-striped buildings so mellow and formidable with age. They give forth an aura of durability typical of Britain. As I passed the Parliament buildings Big Ben was booming the noon hour.

I had the driver circle down to the Thames embankment entrance to the Savoy. The benches are still dotted with the hopeless unemployed, who seem to be England's eternal economic question mark living on the Government dole. The American is immediately spotted by beggars.

FRED A. FARWELL, WHO DIED IN EAST, TO BE BURIED HERE

Funeral services for Fred A. Farwell, president of the Ground Gripper Shoe Co. of Boston, formerly identified for many years with the shoe industry in St. Louis, will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at St. Roch's Catholic Church, 200 West Pine boulevard, and a 6-year-old son, William.

Mr. Farwell was 48 years old. He was born in Canada and came to St. Louis as a young man, forming a connection with the Brown Shoe Co. about 25 years ago. He was one of the organizers of the Sutherland-Pedigo-Farwell Shoe Co. in 1912. Soon after that firm became the Pedigo-Weber Shoe Co., of St. Louis.

Mr. Farwell died unexpectedly Tuesday at his home in Belmont, Mass. He had been in poor health for several years but had remained active in his business. He is survived by his widow, the former Dolle Niederhof, daughter of Mrs. G. Niederhof of 2823 West Pine boulevard, and a 6-year-old son, William.

The ELIZABETH ARDEN Treatment

for the contour

THE Elizabeth Arden method of patting and strengthening the muscles of the cheeks and throat will help you to accomplish wonderful results at home in improving the line of your contour. Cleanse the skin first with Venetian Cleansing Cream. Then make a pad of absorbent cotton, wrung out of cold water, wet with Venetian Special Astringent, and pat the face and neck with this for several minutes. It tightens loose skin and flabby muscles and gives firmness and a clear-cut outline to the contour. Pat again with Orange Skin Food and Muscle Oil, to make the skin smooth and full and to round out sunken tissues. Leave a little cream on the skin over night. For a double chin, pat with Special Astringent even more vigorously. Venetian Reducine Lotion helps to scatter a fatty pad under the chin.

Design of Miss Florence Boeffer Considered for Use on Trolley Cars and Stationery.

A design for an insignia which may be used as a distinguishing mark on cars, badges and stationery of the Public Service Co. has won a $75 first prize in a contest participated in by 60 students of the Washington University art school. It was made by Miss Florence Boeffer of 2831 Rutger street, and consists of a winged wheel marked "St. Louis" above the name "Public Service" in poster type.

A committee of company officers will determine what insignia will be used, and will consider this prize winner. Miss Roberta Shine of 1425 Semple avenue won a $100 prize in the contest and Fred Dreher was awarded one of $25. The jury comprised Frank Nudercher, artist; Harry T. Briland will show complete willingness to co-operate with Kellogg in developing a multilateral treaty to abolish war. He is reported to be ready to go beyond the American Secretary in wishing to spread the idea to cover all nations. He wants the treaty signed by every country in the world and to last until one nation breaks it.

This would make it possible to avoid a discussion of aggressive warfare and still not tie the hands of the nations that are bound by the covenant of the League of Nations to act against an aggressor. If advance reports are correct, Briland's adhesion to Kellogg's idea can be interpreted as an insistence on remaining abreast of Kellogg in enlarging the outlawry of war plan or at least playing up to his every

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—tick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

CANDIDATE SCORNS DRY'S OK

WASHINGTON, Ind., March 22.—George R. Dale, Muncie editor and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor yesterday advised Dr. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, that he did not choose to have Shumaker's endorsement. "Your recommendation would make me suspicious of myself," Dale wrote Dr. Shumaker, who recently asked various candidates for their attitude on prohibition, so he might give the information to the voters of the State.

ON THE first day of the Women's Exposition, a Cork Board Insulated Refrigerator of 100-lb. re-icing capacity was fully iced, then locked shut and not opened until the close of the Exposition, five and a half days later.

The public was invited to guess the weight of the ice at the time of opening. Many thousands of guesses were turned in. Out of the thousands were thirteen who guessed the right weight. From the thirteen a drawing (certified by a notary public) determined the winners.

When the refrigerator was opened on the last night of the Exposition (5½ days under lock and key without re-icing) the remaining piece of ice weighed exactly 32 pounds.

CORK BOARD

In this test (a hundred and thirty hours without re-icing) it was again proven that ice in a Cork Board Insulated Refrigerator provides the best home refrigeration. Whether you buy your new refrigerator from our Home Appliance Department or a dealer, insist upon Cork Board insulation. Our Home Appliance Department offers almost fifty different sizes and styles of home refrigerators—one, a 75-lb. ice capacity Cork Board Insulated Refrigerator specially priced at $38.

COOLIDGE ISSUES HIS THIRD REFUSAL TO BE A CANDIDATE

President Directs His Secretary to Decline Wyoming G. O. P. Committee's Request to Run Again.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 22.—President Coolidge was on record today with a declination of the first formal request that he disregard his personal desire to retire and stand for re-election for a second elective term.

The President made known his position yesterday in a letter from his secretary, Everett Sanders, to L. C. Hinkle, chairman of the Wyoming Republican State central committee, which had adopted a resolution requesting the executive to "waive his personal preference and consent to continue for an additional four years that leadership which has brought honor and prosperity to this country."

"The President has received your letter of the 17th, enclosing a copy of the resolution adopted by the Republican State committee of Wyoming on March 10," the letter read. "While he, of course, very greatly appreciates and thanks you for the expression of confidence, the President directs me to say that he must decline to grant the request of the committee."

The letter served to emphasize the President's stand taken on two previous occasions, last August in the Black Hills when he issued his famous "do not choose to run" statement, and last December at the White House when he told members of the Republican National Committee that he regarded himself "eliminated" from the 1928 presidential race.

On the latter occasion Mr. Coolidge was believed to have resented reports circulated after his August 2 statement that he left the door open for his candidacy in that term, by declaring that his stand as taken, would be respected. He then urged the party to prepare to select "another candidate," and said many capable ones were available.

Since his December statement, considerable talk has been heard of plans to "draft" him, and Georgia Republicans, in convention, have promised him the support of that State's delegation to the Kansas City Convention if he would consent to be a candidate.

Among those who have been regarded as connected with a "draft" movement are Charles D. Hilles, of New York, vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee; Mayor Thompson of Chicago, and C. Bascom Slemmons, of Virginia, former secretary to Mr. Coolidge.

Although only last Saturday Slemmons in an address before the Republican State convention at Roanoke, Va., spoke of the possibility of continuing Mr. Coolidge in office another term, Slemmons came out yesterday for Herbert Hoover.

Student Ends Life With Poison. CINCINNATI, March 22.—Raymond S. Tish, 19 years old, of Co-shocton, O., student at Miami University, Oxford, killed himself with poison at a downtown hotel here yesterday. A note stated that drinking was the cause of his troubles.

OPEN VERDICT IN DEATH OF MAN IN AUTO CRASH

Coroner Unable to Decide Who Drove Car — Witnessed Altered Story.

A changed story by the principal witness left the coroner's jury unable to determine today who was the driver of a speeding automobile which struck a trolley pole at Chouteau and Vandeventer avenues early yesterday, causing injuries fatal to Harry Weisman, 34 years old, 3816 Laclede avenue. An open verdict of criminal carelessness was returned.

Paul Mencke, 40, salesman for Florence McCarthy, 48, publisher, testified that he and Mrs. Mencke were sitting in the rear seat and McCarthy and Weisman in front, McCarthy driving. Patrolman Lang of the Magnolia Avenue District, a witness to the accident, said that from the position of the occupants of the wrecked machine he had judged Weisman was driving, but that both Mr. and Mrs. Mencke had insisted McCarthy was the driver.

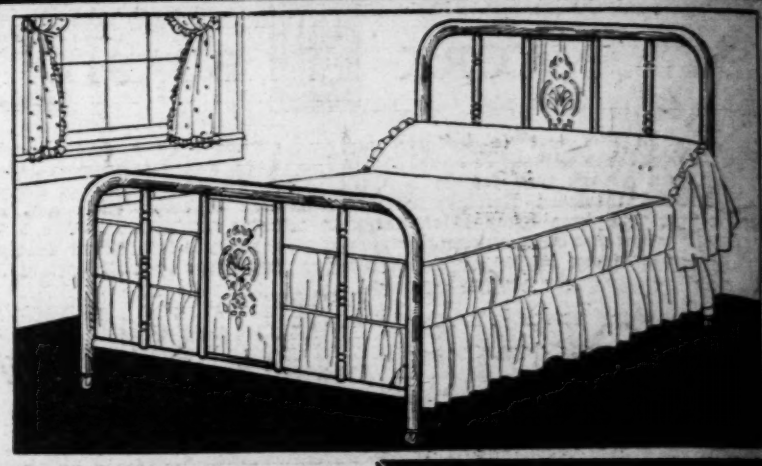

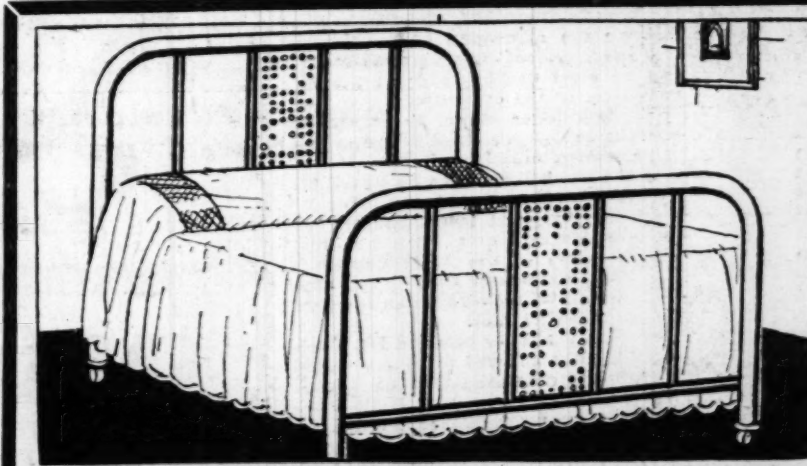

Mrs. Mencke, who suffered lacerations, and McCarthy, who suffered a skull fracture, were unable to attend the inquest. A bottle of liquor was found in McCarthy's pocket. Weisman formerly conducted a cabaret at the Alamac Hotel, which changed name and management several years ago.

Eskimo Pie Patent Invalid FEDERAL JUDGE DECIDES

Estimated in Millions of Dollars Made by Maker of Frozen Dessert.

NEW YORK, March 22.—A patent under which manufacturers of the frozen confection known as Eskimo Pie have made a fortune estimated in millions of dollars was invalid yesterday by Federal Judge Campbell in Brooklyn.

The ruling came after weeks of research into the field of frozen desserts, during which the judge said he discovered a recipe, published in 1907, for a spherical version of Eskimo Pie—ice cream contained in a chocolate casing.
The decision held invalid a patent for Eskimo Pie issued to Chris-tion K. Nelson, Jan. 24, 1922. The suit was brought by the Eskimo Pie Corporation against the Honeymoon Pie Corporation and associated concerns.

Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.
AVON PARK, Fla., March 22.—Wattie Holm starred his first day at third base for the Cardinals this afternoon, contributing largely to the team's 8-3 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics in their exhibition.

Holm made a fine play when he cut off a runner at the plate in the eighth, when a score would have put Mack's team ahead. Then, in the last half of the inning, with the bases filled, Holm lined out a single, scoring two men and breaking a tie.

Alexander worked four innings and held the opposition scoreless. John Berly finished up, and two of the three tallies counted against him when Tris Speaker hit a home run, with a man on base.

The game:

FIRST INNING.
PHILADELPHIA—Bishop drew a pass. Hale forced Bishop, Maranville to Frisch. Martin dropped Speaker's fly, but recovered the ball in time to force Hale at second with a quick throw to Maranville. Miller was safe on Maranville's boot. Speaker going to third. Maranville threw out Simmons. NO RUNS.

CARDINALS—Martin doubled down the left field. Bishop was out, Hausner unassisted, Martin moving to third. Frisch singled to right, scoring Martin. Bottomley flied to Simmons. Frisch cut stealing. Fox to Hassler. ONE RUN.

SECOND INNING.
PHILADELPHIA—Hausner flied to Blades. Frisch made a leaping catch to Fox's line drive. Hausner fanned. NO RUNS.

CARDINALS—Hafey dropped a single in left center. Holm struck out. Hafey stole second as Maranville fanned. O'Farrell was Ernie's third strikeout victim of the inning. O RUNS.

THIRD INNING.
PHILADELPHIA—Maranville went to left field for Ehmke's fly. Bishop singled to center. Hale popped to Frisch and Bishop was easily doubled off first when he put his head down and ran to second, although there was but one out. NO RUNS.

CARDINALS—Alexander popped to Hausner. Hale threw out Martin. Blades walked. Simmons made a nice catch of Frisch's liner to left field. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING.
PHILADELPHIA—Speaker doubled to left. Miller grounded to Maranville and Speaker reached third and Miller second when Maranville dropped Frisch's throw after tagging Speaker. Simmons struck out. So did Hausner. FOX walked, filling the bases. Cochrane batted for Hausner and fouled to O'Farrell. NO RUNS.

CARDINALS—Dykes went to short for the Athletics. Bottomley tripped to right and scored on Ehmke's sacrifice fly to Miller. Dykes

Boxers Who Appear Here Tonight

JOE RIVERS of Kansas City (at the left) and Milton Manguna, of New Orleans, who opposes Peter Kaiser in feature bout.

Kaiser Will Attempt to Avenge Earlier Defeat in Manguna Contest, Tonight

St. Louisan Lost Decision to New Orleans Battler at Little Rock Last Summer—Two Other 10-Round Bouts on Coliseum Program.

By Dent McSkimming

If Johnny Kaiser, St. Louis' leading 126-pound boxer, is to continue his drive toward the top of the featherweight division, he must effectively dispose of Milton Manguna, the New Orleans boy, in their 10-round bout at the Coliseum tonight.

There are four other bouts on the American Legion boxing program, but the attention of local fans is focused on the Kaiser-Manguna affair.

When Kaiser lost a decision to the New Orleans boy, at Little Rock last summer, at least one newspaper reported that the judges had erred. Kaiser has shown great improvement since that time, having recovered the full use of his hands, which were injured a year ago, and it is probable that he will give Manguna a lot more work tonight than he did last summer.

Manguna, at the age of 21, has engaged in 32 bouts, of which he has won 30. The other two were draws. If Kaiser wins tonight it will be the first time Manguna has been defeated.

Looks Like a Boxer.
The New Orleans boy looks the part of a boxer. In his ring work-outs at the National A. A. here, he showed a flash of speed and a snappy left jab. He is practically unmarked about the face and head, which is pretty good proof that he is a skillful boxer who can parry blows and catch punches with his arms. He retreats cleverly from a tight place, a trick which may make him an elusive target.

Since Manguna is admittedly a clever boxer, it is considered likely that Kaiser will have to get in a few heavy punches early in the bout if he wants to be sure of victory. If Manguna can stay the ten rounds he may win on points. Kaiser, then, may devote a lot of attention to trying to land a knockout punch.

Joe Pagalino of Louisville, and Joe Rivers of Kansas City, also stepped through their paces at the National gymnasium yesterday, each apparently well under the 126 pound limit. Pagalino has seen a lot of service for a young man. He is rather lean and gaunt, looking, with a lantern jaw, but he keeps his chin tucked well in and he keeps busy, throwing punches. Like Manguna, he will be making his first ring appearance in St. Louis.

Rivers has been in the Coliseum ring once before. He outpointed Chick Saunders here in 1926. He is 23 years old, a Mexican by birth. Another bout of unusual interest tonight is the meeting of Tom Pivac of St. Louis, and Jimmy Mahoney of Chicago. They were matched for two previous shows here this season but each time some unforeseen circumstances interfered. They are very well matched so far as physical qualifications are concerned, but Mahoney has had considerably more ring experience. It is said that Pivac's friends are backing him to score a knockout.

Bill Johnson, a former protégé of Tommy Brannell, will oppose Norman Travis of Belleville in the opening bout of four rounds, and Joe Baker, Dan O'Keefe heavy-weight corner, will oppose Mike Dalton of Chicago in a six round, to trail Ed Gardner, Seattle Negro, by about eight minutes. Arne Souminen, Detroit, 6:49:55—11:53:45; Andrew Payne, Claremore, Ok., 7:58:20—11:53:45; John Cronick, Saskatoon, Sask., 7:44:30—11:53:45; Peter Guvusai, Southampton, England, 7:01:17:44:41; Voligt Houfater, Manchester, Mich., 7:15:10—12:55:35; Nestor Erickson, Northchester, N. Y., 10:04:30—12:43:37; Ed Gardner, Seattle, 6:41:25—12:55:35; Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., 8:11:10—12:55:35.

JOCKEY SANDE IS RESTORED TO GOOD STANDING

Noted Rider Reinstated in Maryland—Was Barred for Alleged Rough Riding Last Fall.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, March 22.—Earl Sande, noted jockey, was reinstated by the Maryland Jockey Club this afternoon.

Sande was accused of foul riding on Bateau last November when it was charged he deliberately drove his mount into Relay Count, forcing the favorite into the fence. His reinstatement today automatically restores him on all race tracks which recognized the action of the Maryland Commission and had deferred him pending his restoration to favor by the Maryland body.

Sande's reinstatement becomes effective immediately. It was stated at the offices of the commission.

Chicago Quintet Wins Game in Catholic Tourney

Today's Scores.

St. Mary's, Westfield, Mass., 30; St. Theresa, Detroit, 20.
St. Phillip's, Chicago, 38; St. Titus, Titusville, Pa., 14.

CHICAGO, March 22.—St. Mary's High School five of Clarkburg, W. Va., triumphed over St. Peter's High of Anacosta, Mont., 16 to 7, in today's opening game of the National Catholic High School basketball tournament at Loyola University here.

St. Mary's High of Lansing eliminated the strong Holy Rosary five of Syracuse, N. Y., 20 to 15. A last-quarter rally won for the Michigan quintet after the two teams had fought an even terna.

St. Mary's led at the half, 6 to 3, and 12 to 12 at the third quarter. The five-man offense used by the Easterners proved to be their downfall, as it left openings for St. Mary's team to score.

St. Phillip's High of Chicago, co-winner of the Chicago high school Catholic League championship, won its initial game of the tournament, smothering St. Titus of Titusville, Pa., 38 to 14. Chicago led 16 to 6 at the half. Grenatt and Johnson scored all the five field goals for Titus.

Seven of the Browns' Ten Pitchers This Year Will Be New Comers

Stewart, Nevers and Crowder Are Only Holdovers—Howley's Worries Over Outfield Increase With Injury to McNeely.

By J. Roy Stockton

Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 22.—Except for a yearning desire for another outfielder, the Browns are about set now for the American League pennant race. Of course, no pitcher has gone nine innings, but every hurler on the squad is in fine physical condition and could go the route if called upon. The chief reason why no one has pitched nine, is that there are so many hurlers here that if each pitched nine innings there, wouldn't be enough games for all of show their stuff and stay in condition.

Starting today, the Browns will have no open dates in their exhibition schedule with the exception of next Monday, when they will be on their way to Birmingham, and April 6, when they arrive in St. Louis for the two games with the Cardinals, April 7 and 8. Ten exhibition games and the benefit affair today between the Regulars and Yannis remain on the road schedule and the contests will give the pitching staff its final test.

Howley has stated that he would like to have another left-hander on his staff, but nothing has been done about it and unless a trade is arranged before the opening of the season, Walter Stewart will be the only southpaw in Browns' uniform.

Dan has said that he plans to carry ten pitchers and it is probable that they will be Gray, Stewart, Crowder, Ogden, Coffman, Nevers, Beck, Blaholder, Strelecki and Wright.

Staff Is Not So Bad.
Though Howley declines to be enthusiastic over anything, that pitching staff is not so bad as it might appear to the grocery clerks, who unless a man's name is something to conjure with, turn up the nose.

Gray, Stewart and Ogden are smart pitchers and they have the big league polish. If Crowder can just remember to slow up occasionally, he will be a great pitcher, and as mentioned several times, Coffman promises to be a real star one of these days and it would not surprise the writer if he stepped in this year and won 15 games.

Beck is another with great possibilities. If Beck and Coffman were to deliver, the Browns would not be such a bumpy-dumpy ball club. Nevers also will bid for a position and he may arrive any day. Blaholder has been tried often and everybody is waiting until he goes through the final test again before saying much about him. But he does look better this season.

Strelecki was wild in the only game in which he worked up a Wright, with fine prospects, is not yet ready for big league duty. He needs a year's work in the minors with a smart catcher, and a pitching coach, to teach him how to hold men on the bases and to develop a change of pace. However, there must be at least ten pitchers and he may carry if no deal is arranged for a southpaw.

The outfield problem continues to be acute, despite Heine Manush's steady improvement.

McCoy to Get Chance.
One of the correspondents asked Howley yesterday who would play right field April 11, if Manush were not ready.

"Probably you," Howley replied, indicating that he would not relish the idea of going to the wars with any kid in the garden.

Alvin McCoy will get a chance to show what he can do in rightfield this afternoon in the game with the Yannis and again tomorrow in the first of the three contests with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Wright and Burnett will be in waiting pitchers and Coffman and Nevers have been selected to face the Dodgers.

Howley's infield displayed sparkling form in the workout yesterday, which was shortened so the men could go on a deep sea fishing trip in the afternoon. Kross and Brannon performed like champions.

Lu Blue, who frowned a bit over the prospects of such a green infield when he first reported, is more hopeful now. He says Brannon is one of the aptest pupils he ever saw on the diamond. Lu is an artist on the infield and has done much to help Brannon.

"If you tell Brannon a thing once he never forgets," Blue remarked. "And I believe Kross is going to be a great fielder and a knockout as a hitter. Both the kids are improving every day. I'm sure the fans will like those youngsters."

The outfield worries of the Browns became more acute yesterday when Earl McNeely wrenched his back diving after a ball. He had to be assisted to his room last

FREDDIE ST. LOUISAN AND PARTNER SECOND IN THE DOUBLES

Local Star Rolls Games of 220, 245 and 244 to Get High Total — With Hood, He Totals 1298
in Two-Man Event.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, March 22.—Freddie Krems of St. Louis, rolling in the doubles today, piled up a score of 709, the best individual performance of the American Bowling Congress tournament so far. Krems' games were 220, 245 and 244.

Krems' bowling put him and his partner, H. Hood, into second place in the doubles standings with a score of 1298.

Hood rolled 589, 120 less than Krems. The pair's games were 413 and 440. Krems had one strike of six straight strikes, and made of seven. His score was also higher than that of M. Russell of Atchison, Kan., whose 709 was the best previous individual performance. Russell's score also was made in the doubles.

The doubles leaders are Matak and Wolfeffer, St. Paul, left-handers, with a total of 1247.

With several men starting the twentieth session yesterday by shooting 200 or better in the first game and often repeating in the second, virtually all slumped to mediocre marks in their third chance. Frank Justus of Columbus, Ark., was among the jinx victims. He started with 224, shot 225 in the next 10 frames, then slumped to 112, a total of 662, which was less than his tenth place.

The team of C. Mallott and P. Jones of Benton Harbor, Mich., tied 1247 to place tenth in the doubles. This was the only change among the leaders in the four games.

P. Freitag of Milwaukee, retained his singles with 652 while M. Matak and L. Wolfeffer, St. Paul, southpaws, remained at the top in the doubles with 1247. The latter Insurance Co. of Omaha, continued to head the five-men team with 1223. J. Williams, young Chicago star, and B. Bricker, Flint, Mich., share all-events honors with 1111.

SPORT

by L. Davis

The Passing Show.

OUR college buddy, Lester Bell, For Andy High was traded; While Les still batted very well, His fielding form had faded. The Cards now have a native son Which makes it fine and dandy, As loyal rooters every one, Will root for little Andy.

In Boston Lester Bell will land, Where he is well regarded; And Statterly will fill his hand With Cards that were discarded. In Bell and Rogers Hornsby, Jack Will claim that he has hired The pick of the entire pack Of Cards that have been fired.

'Tis said that Wattle Holm will try For Lester's old position, While Andy High is standing by To furnish competition. While Lester Bell was good in spots, His work was rather spotty, And most of those hot-corner shots Should be a cinch for Wattle.

Weather Cloudy, Track Oily.

See where Harry Sinclair's race horses have been barred from all the Maryland tracks. As Kentucky has taken no action we take it that the sport of kings hasn't as yet decided to high-hat the Derby.

"Prince of Wales Falls Off His Horse in Water Jump." Indicating the Prince is in mid-season form.

"Pirates Estimated 20 Per Cent Stronger Than '27 Flag Winners." Not enough by 20 per cent. With Blades, Hafey and T. They're now O. K. the Cards will be 40 per cent stronger than last year.

However, the percentage column at the end of the season will tell the tale.

Ellers is highly enthusiastic over the response accorded the tournament by nearby schools. The ad-

Oxford Crew Improves.

LONDON, March 22.—Oxford's crew has shown such improved form in recent workouts that experts no longer are giving Cambridge a decided edge in forecasting the result when the two crews clash in their annual varsity boat race on the Thames, March 31.

Playing Out of Hazard.

WHEN I wrote some time ago about playing from sand bunkers, I mentioned three methods of extricating the ball from that kind of hazard. I called the three shots the blast, the chip, and the cut-shot. I referred to these as the three legitimate shots to employ from a bunker. I did not mean by that to imply that there existed no other legitimate way of accomplishing the desired result.

I wrote recently of the imagination which enabled a player to conceive and execute strokes from difficult situations. There certainly is no place on a golf course when the player's flare for originality can have freer rein than in a sand-trap. Once there, he has the selection of any number of means of getting out, granting, of course, that his ball is not lying in a furrow or in an innocent heel-mark.

When a man walks into a bunker he must be in a very unsettled state of mind. Approaching his ball lying upon the fairway, he can be reasonably sure that he can see whatever club or shot the distance and terrain may demand. But, on the sand, the situation is vastly different, for there he must accommodate his ambitious intentions to the lie he has been lucky enough to draw. And rarely, indeed, is he met with a situation entirely familiar, for the smallest hump of sand back of the ball may make impossible, or at any rate too dangerous, the shot which he had determined upon as suited to the occasion.

Plays Run-Up Shot.

IN this situation, an explosive shot or blast was of no use, because the ball, with no backspin, could not be stopped short of the terrace; it was likewise impossible to chip because my ball lay too far from the opposite bank of the bunker; and finally I did not dare try to cut the ball up with lots of backspin, because if I took too much sand, I should leave it still in the bunker.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

I do not know what I should have or could have done, had not the bank of the bunker been low and not too precipitous. As it was, it was only a little over two feet high, and sloping. My only chance lay in a run-up shot, hoping to take the bank with the proper speed. I hit the ball with a mashie-iron, scuttling it across the sand, and watched it climb the bank. Luckily, it curled down the slope and came to rest four feet to the left of the hole. I got the next one in and felt vastly relieved.

The general tendency, I think, is to overlook the possibilities in a shot of that nature. I admit that it does appear unworkmanlike and amateurish to run a shot through sand and out of a bunker, but it sometimes becomes necessary to disregard appearances. A few disasters resulting from a desire to display brilliant technique are enough to harden even the most sensitive nature. To approach the hole remains the ultimate object in the game. # WRAY BROWN DEFEATS CHANDLER IN HARD-FOUGHT DAVIS CUP TEST

COEN GAINS HIS SECOND VICTORY BEATING JONES

St. Louis Player Requires Four Sets to Subdue Foe While Kansas City Youth Takes Five.

By the Associated Press.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 22.—W. F. Coen, Jr., 16-year-old Kansas City net star, continued his sensational work in the Davis Cup test matches here today, beating Arnold Jones of Providence, R. I., 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

Wray Brown of St. Louis, defeated Edward (Bud) Chandler, Harvard, law student, and former California ace 7-5, 6-2, 1-6, 6-4.

Brown, in his first trial yesterday, lost a hard fought four-set match to Arnold Jones, former Yale star, 5-7, 6-4, 8-6, 10-8. Chandler, displaying an effective backstroke, won from George Lott, No. 3 player, 6-2, 7-9, 8-6, 6-2.

The feature of yesterday's matches was the defeat of Captain Tilden by the Indianapolis star, Hennessey, by scores of 6-3, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3 and 6-4.

Big Bill Is Unsteady.

The match was vigorously contested throughout. Tilden showing his cannonball service to good advantage at times but failing to maintain sufficient steadiness with it to stop his aggressive opponent.

Once in the third set, "Big Bill" slipped over his fast service on three successive occasions, the ball hitting within inches of the fair marks and getting there so fast that Hennessey hardly had opportunity to see it.

The Indianapolis luminary's strong point, however, was his ability to parry with the veteran, often getting his point in frequent furious exchanges around the net.

They brought the several hundred persons present to their feet several times with lightning-like plays, Tilden being especially aggressive in going after hard chances as the match wore on.

Coen Wins Over Doeg.

Another upset was sprung in the morning play by Coen, a protege of Tilden, when he beat Johnny Doeg, California youth, in straight sets, 14-12, 6-4, 6-3.

Wilmer Allison of the University of Texas, National Intercollegiate champion, also scored a three set victory over Frank X. Shields of New York, National Junior champion, 8-6, 6-1, 6-3.

McTigue Meets Marullo.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 22.—A boxer doesn't necessarily have to be a titleholder to gain international recognition. Tony Marullo, who meets Mike McTigue in 10 rounds at the St. Nicholas arena Monday has boxed in practically every city in the United States where boxing is legal, and now his services are sought in England for a bout with Frank Moody, Wales champion, who is well known in this country.

Beginning Early.

WILBUR COEN, Kansas City tennis player and Davis Cup candidate, is the youngest player to try for the squad. He is younger by two years than the precocious Vincent Richards was when he came up.

Coen's quality was shown yesterday when he defeated John Doeg. He won a still more striking victory today over Arnold Jones.

That will cause a little excitement. It means that Coen is coming along very fast and living up to all the nice things that William T. Tilden said about "Junior" a few weeks ago.

U. S. Finest "Prospect"

"COEN appears the greatest tennis prospect the country has today and is the most promising player I have encountered in my experience. He ought to become one of the world's greatest players, provided he is not brought along too fast," Tilden is reported to have observed. "If he undertakes to come too fast he may burn out. Another danger is the usual one of coddling him too much."

All of which may mean that success in the Davis Cup trials might do Coen more harm than good, at this time.

A New "Squeeze" Play.

PEEWEE KAISER, good little battler and the most popular amateur boxer in his day that St. Louis ever applauded, seems to have completely recovered from the broken hand which caused him trouble in his fights, up to this year.

Kaiser had shattered the meta-carpal bones of his right mauley so often that, as was the case with former Flyweight Champion Frankie Mason, a veritable doorknob had developed on the back of his hand.

Kaiser hurt his right almost every time he used it for a year or more. But today the bone seems to have knit solidly.

Pee-wee brought this about by a simple process: Squeezing a handball in the palm of his injured hand.

Kaiser says that he carries the ball with him constantly, and when walking on the street squeezes it from time to time. This massages the muscles and keeps the entire hand pliable.

In his last fight here Kaiser used his right throughout the contest, with no sign of soreness. Apparently the "squeeze play" works, at this time.

SCHULTE NAMED ASSISTANT ON OLYMPIC STAFF

Officials to Handle United States Team Selected—90 Men and 20 Women to Make Up Squad.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The American Olympic committee, headed by Major General Douglas MacArthur, yesterday moulded the framework of the complex organization that will represent the United States at Amsterdam this summer. At first announced was the picking of the athletes who will "carry the load" for Uncle Sam and plans for the weeding-out process were completed.

Managers and coaching staffs, assistants and trainers, the date for Olympic tryouts were named in five major sports. The choosing of minor squads such as revolver and rifle teams, was left to the committees in charge of each event.

Heading the list was the appointment of Lawson Robertson, of the University of Pennsylvania, as head coach of the track and field squad, and the choosing of ten assistants. They were John Behr, of the Illinois A. C.; Dean Cromwell, Southern California; Harry Hillman, Dartmouth; Wilbur Huttl, Alabama Poly; John Magee, Bowdoin; Henry P. Schulte, Nebraska; Tome Keane, Syracuse; Eddie Farrell, Harvard; Jack Ryder, Boston A. A.; and Dink Templeton, Stanford.

In naming Patrick J. Walsh, of New York, former president of the Metropolitan A. A. U., as manager, the committee declared that in the interest of discipline, the managers of each squad would be in complete charge of the personnel. Athletes and coaches alike must take whatever orders are necessary from these divisional chiefs.

90 Athletes on Team. Ninety athletes will make up the men's track squad and 20 the women's team. Women will be entered in the competition for the first time. The Olympic tryouts will be held at Cambridge, Mass., July 6 and 7, with competition in the 400-meter hurdles and 400-meter run held at the Yale track, New Haven, Conn., July 4. The women's tryouts probably will be held in Newark, July 4. Four men will be taken abroad for each of the 21 events on the Olympic program and six for the marathon.

The list of appointments and dates set for tryouts:

MEN'S TRACK AND FIELD: Trainers, Mike Ryan, Colby; Jake Weber, Fordham; William Morris, New York; Marathon manager, H. Oberbush, New York; trainers, William Hayward, University of Oregon; Peter Doole, Los Angeles; Mike Charles, Columbus, O.

WOMEN'S TRACK AND FIELD: Coach, Mel Sheppard, New York; manager, Fred L. Steers, Chicago; chaperone, Alleen Allen, Pasadena, Cal.

MEN'S SWIMMING: Coach, William Bachrach, Illinois A. C.; diving coach, Ernst Brandsten, Stanford; water polo, Perry McGillivray, Illinois A. C. Men's swimming tryout dates: Water polo, Chicago, April 6 and 7. (Seven men team and four subs to be chosen); diving, San Francisco, June 7, 8, 9; swimming, Detroit, June 22-24 (25 to be chosen).

Webb to Coach Boxers. WOMEN'S SWIMMING: Coach, Robert Kipphut, Yale; chaperones, Claire G. Finney, New Rochelle, N. Y., and Ada T. Sackett, Atlantic City, N. J.; manager, John T. Taylor, Pittsburgh; assistant managers, Dr. P. M. DeLiscu, Philadelphia, and Miss Dora O'Mara, New York.

Tryout dates: June 30 and July 1, place not yet chosen; 21 women to compose team.

BOXING: Coach, "Spike" Webb, Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.; trainer, Al Lacey, Boston A. A.; manager, Jacob W. Stumpf, New York; assistant, Benny Levine, New York. Tryout dates: Eight classes, 16 men to be chosen. Olympics tryouts at Boston, April 23, 24.

WRESTLING: Coach, George M. Piner, Grand Rapids, Mich.; manager, C. W. Streit Jr., Birmingham, Ala.; trainer, Wilfred E. Cann, New York. Tryout dates: Seven classes, 14 men chosen, one to wrestle Olympics at Grand Rapids, July 6 and 7.

SOCCER: Officials not chosen. Team to consist of 11 men and five substitutes.

CYCLING: No officials chosen. One rider to be chosen.

Four Marathon Tryouts.

The marathon team, to consist of six runners, will be selected on the basis of showings in the grinds at Boston, April 19; Long Beach, N. Y., May 19; Baltimore, June 2, and Detroit on a date undetermined.

The best college or club Lacrosse team to consist of 12 players and the usual coterie of officials, will be named about June 1 by the Lacrosse Olympic committee on the basis of rankings submitted by the Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association. Rankings will be based on the showing of teams throughout spring and play-offs will be held if necessary.

The liner President Roosevelt, chartered some time ago, to carry the entire Olympic representation to Amsterdam, will sail from either Boston or New York July 31. The athletes will live aboard ship in Amsterdam.

Hennessey Pulls "A Fast One" at Tilden's Expense

By the Associated Press.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 22. JOHNNY HENNESSY, youthful Indianapolis tennis star who beat Bill Tilden yesterday, "pulled a fast one" when he came prancing to the sidelines to stail: his match wearing a heavy tan coat, well buttoned.

Doffing this, he stood revealed in a "baby blue" slip-over slightly louder than the other Davis Cup candidates had displayed. After playing the first game he started removing this and a moment later stood revealed in a dazzling golden-hued jersey.

Tilden joined the roar of laughter from the galleries. At Hennessey, not nettled in the least, came back with a grin: "Bill, this won't take your mind off the ball, will it?"

As the match ended, John was playing in a sport blouse.

Billiken Grid Letter Men to Elect Captain

Team Will Also Return to School Colors of Blue and White.

The return to the old system of electing a football captain following each campaign will be made by the St. Louis University football squad, which has been announced by Hartley Anderson, new Billiken coach, who also has decided that football jerseys will again be in the school colors of blue and white.

Under the regime of Bob Matthews, Anderson's predecessor, the coach named a field general for each game, and at the end of the season selected a "player of the week" honor, while the color of the football jerseys, socks and helmets were of cardinal red.

Due to the fact that no captain was chosen at the end of the last season campaign, a leader will be elected by the 1935 lettermen, at the conclusion of spring training next month.

Tunney May Be Suspended By New York Commission

Boxing Board, Which Considers Champion's Answer Concerning Next Bout as Evasive, to Take Up Case Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The New York State Athletic Commission tomorrow may consider the advisability of suspending Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion.

The commission yesterday announced receipt of a telegram from Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, in the meantime to alter the attendance in which Tunney said he had signed with Tex Rickard to defend his title "against the best available opponent as soon as Rickard has arranged to sign his selection and stage the contest."

The telegram, which was in reply to one from the commission, however, failed to deal specifically with the challenges, now on file here, of Tom Heeney, Jack Sharkey and Johnny Risko. The commission, in its telegram to Tunney, had informed the champion that his six months' period of grace expired today and asked him what he was going to do with the challenges.

Although the commission announced it would have nothing to say about the situation until its regular meeting tomorrow, it was learned unofficially that the boxing fathers considered Tunney's reply evasive. Unless something occurs in the meantime to alter the attendance, Tunney's suspension for failure to defend his title within six months, appears certain.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 22.—George Godfrey, Negro fighter, through his manager, Jim Dougherty, last night challenged Gene Tunney for a heavyweight championship battle to be fought this summer.

Godfrey's manager addressed telegrams to promoter Tex Rickard and the New York Boxing Commission.

To the promoter was extended an invitation to promote the contest. Of the commission, Dougherty demanded that the Negro heavyweight's name be placed first on the list of challengers which include Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko.

Edwards Sets New Canadian Record

Covers 600 Yards in 1:13.5 Special Race—Hahn Takes Mile in Slow Time.

By the Associated Press.

HAMILTON, Ont., March 22.—Phil Edwards, Negro runner of New York University, established a new Canadian indoor record in the 600-yard run in a special race here last night. Edwards covered the distance in 1 minute 13.5 seconds, leading his two Canadian rivals, J. Vils and Ted White, both of Hamilton, to the tape.

Edwards' time, however, was one two-fifths seconds slower than the world's record of 1:11.5, set by A. C. C. in 1925.

Lloyd Hahn, great Boston A. middle distance runner, captured the mile event in the slow time of 4 minutes 28 seconds.

Players to Get Medals.

Members of the Hibs basketball team champion in the University City Municipal league last season will be guests at a dinner to be given tonight at the Castle Hotel, in which Mayor Hugh O'Connell of New York City will present each player with a medal. Other speakers will be Harold Barker, manager, and Dr. F. M. Barnes.

INDICTED FOR MURDER IN $23,500 HOLDUP

Earl Ten Eyck, Alleged Associate of Cuckoo Gang, Accused of Crime.

Indictments charging the murder of Elmer G. Baltz, cashier of the First National Bank of Madison, and the theft from him of $23,500 of the bank's funds, have been voted by the Madison County grand jury against Earl Ten Eyck of St. Louis, charged by police as an associate of Cuckoo gangsters.

State's Attorney Bohm at Edwardsville declined to make public the evidence on which the true bills were voted, but it has been announced previously that Ten Eyck was identified by a woman witness as one of the five men who helped up Baltz and Frank H. Smith, a guard, in front of the Madison postoffice last Friday and shot Baltz when Smith opened fire. Smith was saved from serious injury by a steel vest, but he was shot in both hands.

Ten Eyck has declined to waive extradition, but Madison County officials are on the way to Jefferson City with a requisition from Gov. Small which they will present to Gov. Baker.

Ten Eyck, who has been arrested many times on various charges, has denied he was in Madison at the time of the robbery.

WILBUR TELLS OF OIL RESERVE PROTECTION

Navy Secretary Describes Elk Hills and Teapot Dome Situation.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur in testimony before the House Appropriations Committee on the naval reserve bill, repeated yesterday the naval oil reserve lands and of steps being taken by the Navy Department to protect them from possible draining.

He said that regarding Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 1 (Elk Hills) the department had reached an agreement with the Bridge Oil Co. whereby the Government would receive an additional royalty of 20 per cent on any increased production of oil from the first Bridge wells as a result of drilling in the navy wells. This he said, the maximum royalty payable by the Government on this increased production to 35 per cent.

Regarding the Teapot Dome reserve, the Secretary said that under the court decree of Sept. 29, 1927, all production operation of the reserves on reserve No. 2 ceased at midnight Dec. 31, and all wells were closed as of that date and now remain closed.

"There were 62 producing wells in this reserve at the termination of receivership and 12 gas wells, all of the latter being already shut down," he continued. "All wells will be continued in a shutdown condition for the present, close observation of gas pressure will be made and future action will be decided by the results of those observations."

"Some of the oil wells are such small producers that they are being abandoned, while the others are being put in such condition as will protect the oil sands from which they have been producing. Total production of the reserves to the end of September, 1934, was 2,479,824 barrels. Total estimate of recoverable oil was 20,000,000 barrels."

INSTITUTE HELD BY WOMEN VOTERS ENDS

Means of Simplifying State Government Discussed by Speakers.

A fact-finding body to work out the reorganization of the State Government was advocated by Miss Adele Clarke, vice president of the National League of Women Voters, in a luncheon address today at Hotel Chase.

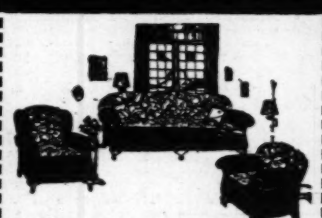

The address concluded a two-day institute of the 26 Leagues of Women Voters of Missouri on "The Simplification of Our State Administration." Simplification was the purpose of a bill providing for a budget and nine departments to handle all State business, sponsored in the last Legislature by the Associated Industries, which has indicated that a similar measure will be introduced at the next session.

"Such a body may be voluntary, or may be appointed by the Governor, or by the Legislature, to sit during or between legislative sessions," explained Miss Clarke.

Getting Responsible Government. "The reorganization of State government after the facts are found and the detailed recommendations made, is a matter concerned largely with obtaining political leadership, and of informing the public of the necessity for having the Government keep pace with twentieth century demands upon it."

Three universities, five teachers' colleges, Catholic, Jewish and political women's clubs, the Eighth

THE WAY —OF— A WOMAN

—By—
Marguerite Mooers Marshall

A DEFENSE OF LOVE
A WOMAN, even if she is ugly or old, even if she is serious and earnest and entirely matter of fact, remains, nevertheless, in the last analysis, an erotic being.—Emil Ludwig.

If any one of the numerous male philosophers—Dr. Ludwig is merely the most recently published—who find that women are more interested in love than in anything else would offer a substitute equally thrilling and absorbing and beautiful, women might change their much depleted point of view. Until then, they will be "erotic beings"—and wise women will not apologize for it.

A woman is often made to feel that she overemphasizes love. She is often put on the defensive about it. She gets so tired of being criticized for using sex appeal, for demanding "love interest" in plays and novels and moving pictures, for expecting the charming gestures and graces of love to continue after marriage, for talking and thinking about love instead of the stock market or the latest fight. And she feels inclined to turn on her critics and say, "Will you show me another thing more beautiful and more vital than love? Because here is love, as I can show it to you."

"It is a reason for living, what ever else happens. You may be poor, so poor that you can never go to the theater, that your clothes are shabby, that you cannot even afford to entertain your friends. You may have to work too hard for too little money; you may give the best of your strength and brains to some employer who eats up both and returns you a few dollars and no appreciation. You may have to live in crowded, noisy streets, instead of on a pine-covered, windswept hill or beside a tumbling sapphire-colored ocean.

"You may live discouraged days and weary nights—but, if you are in love, you can stand every abominable thing that happens to you. Because, always near you, there will be the most wonderful person in the world—someone who is strong and fine and merry and sympathetic and wise. You can tell him your hurts and he will be sorry. You can tell him your little discoveries of beauty and happiness and he will laugh with you. Always you can give and receive an emotion so strong, so thrilling, so glorious that whatever your past unhappiness or your doubtful future—you know the present is the compensation of which Browning sings:

"Thought and feeling and soul and sense—
Merged in a moment which gives me at last
You around me for once, you beneath me, above me—
Me—sure that despite of time future, time past—
This tick of our lifetime's one moment you love me!"

"SUPPOSE half your life is imagination. What does that matter? For what other force or interest in life can so enkindle imagination? Work may be a keen satisfaction, but even the woman who loves her work loves it best when she can show it to a lover and say, in the words of a great dedication, "What I have done is yours, what I have to do is yours, being part in all I have, devoted yours."

"Sports, or any form of play, may be good fun, but never so much so, for a woman, as when a lover-playfellow shares with her. "Children may be a delight to heart and brain—but children, the woman who has loved knows, are but love's by-product.

"Suppose love is uncertain, treacherous, like joy whose hand is ever at his lips bidding farewell. Even if love goes—and the love a woman gives so much more important than that she receives, need not go—still she will have had it. It was Rupert Brooke who wrote:

"Love is a breach in the walls, a broken gate,
Where that comes in that shall not go again;
Love sells the proud heart's citadel to Fate."

"Even so. Yet love is worth even a hard price one pays to Fate. There is the truth of it, to be denied by no woman who has loved. "To love, in spite of everything, I think that is the answer to the enigma of the universe," said George Sand. There is the truth to be clung at these impatient males who argue that love takes up too much space in newspapers and books and the lives of women. They need to be reminded that—whatever their opinion—least half of humanity are, as Dr. Ludwig reminds us, "erotic beings." And why not?

EIGHTY-THREE.
CHECKING UP HIS FIGURES.
One woman in every eight or 10 is bow-legged, according to the report of Dr. Joseph J. Interland, president of the Podiatrists' Research Association, and now we know what the bench-warmers in City Hall Park are doing every noon.

GREAT MINDS, ETC.
"I sometimes think it is better to be an ancestor than to have one," says Irving T. Bush in his new book, "Working With the World." And, as a woman reflects, Napoleon had a practically identical thought, a hundred years or so earlier, when he remarked, "I AM an ancestor." (Copyright, 1934.)

ETIQUETTE

By Kathrine de Peyster.

DURING the holidays I met a boy whom I like very much and who seems to like me. Since we now know each other pretty well he has told me that my dresses are too short, my hair too shiny, my nails too pink and my lips too red. He says that I am very pretty but that I spoil my looks by doing all these things. Now, Miss de Peyster, all the girls I know dress just as I do and do all these things as much as I do. Who is right? My boy friend or the girls in my set? And should a boy, no matter how nice he happens to be, try to interfere with the way a girl wants to look? I told him that I would do whatever you said.

Well, Sylvia, shall I disappoint you very much if I say that your new friend is right? Anything that is exaggerated in the way of make-up is usually disfiguring, not pleasing or becoming as girls want it to be. Almost everybody's lips are too red, their nails too pink, and their hair too shiny. I know that you are very young, and if you are as pretty as your new friend seems to think, why do you plaster these cosmetics on yourself? You don't need them.

Now this is what I would do. I would polish my nails as much as I liked, but I would not stain them pink. I would put a good cream on my lips every night, to keep them soft and beautiful but I would use a lip-stick not at all. I would have no shine at all on my hair but the shine that comes from care and brushing. I would keep my body as exquisite and as beautiful as cold water, plenty of exercise and sleep, good food and lovely thoughts could make it. For what you think writes itself upon your face as though it were an open page.

This is what the beautiful girls do to take care of themselves who have all the treasures of the world at their feet. They know how to use cosmetics. They do not abuse them. Try this sort of thing for a while and see if you will not soon be as pleased with yourself as I know your boy friend will be with you. And if he ventured to interfere with your ideas, don't you think that it was because he was very much interested? I do.

Cream of Carrot Soup.

Two cups carrots, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Peel and cook carrots in salted boiling water until tender. Drain and mash through a fine sieve. Scald milk in a double boiler, add carrot pulp and 2 cups water in which the carrots were boiled. Add onion, salt, blended butter and flour and boil until smooth, stirring constantly. Add chopped parsley and serve.

A police dog recently exhibited at Columbia University was learned to understand between 200 and 400 words. The animal obeyed such orders as picking a coin off a table and taking it to various persons indicated.

Plain Cookies.

An economical cookie that fills the bill for the kiddie when he comes home hungry from school. Cream 1/2 cup butter and add 1 cup sugar. Now add 1 tablespoon water and 3 well-beaten eggs. Add 1 1/2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Roll out and cut into cookie shapes—the animal cutters are fun for the youngsters. Sprinkle with granulated sugar and bake for 10 minutes in a moderate oven.

Godets Back on Spring Skirts

GODETS have got back into print this year after a short absence and are incidentally supplying the Paris designs with a new idea in the skirt line just when it would seem they had run the entire gamut.

It is a skirt with two full godets in the back, appearing for the first time on new spring models. It is carried out in all kinds of materials and used on coats as well as frocks, giving a new and graceful movement.

A number of sports frocks at Drecoll's have shoulder yokes and there are plain-backed skirts with pleats or straight fullness in front and at the sides. Daytime frocks have shaped hip yokes, fitting smoothly, flat backs and skirts with circular fullness cleverly hung in front and at the sides. Coat dresses have a wide shoulder line, a slight curve above the hip and at the back and sides, a clinging back line and surplus closings, often carrying the diagonal line unbroken from neck to hem.

Many of the evening gowns are delightfully draped from a fitted yoke. Some show falling points at both sides, or only one. The irregular hemline lends variety. One in Nicole Groult's collection has a painted yoke both front and back. Lucien Lelong is using the old "wayback" idea on some of his frocks. One for the debutante in tiny ruffles of pale pink tulle is charmingly carried out in this idea.

Invent a jelly tumbler over the milk bottle containing a note for the milkman. Then it will not escape his notice and cannot blow away.

FOLLIES OF FASHION By Marguerite Barnes

LARGER hats will be worn this spring and are good on tall women, except when they have small faces and heads. The large dark hat on the left, while good with the whole figure, makes the face too insignificant. The hat on the right is chosen because it is light in color and therefore appears to enlarge the area of the face. It is short in front, allowing the face to show as much as possible. The bow off the forehead also accents the face, besides being very smart. (Note: The two figures are identical and the different effect is secured by the lines of the hats and frocks.)

Cleanliness Is the Soul of Sanitation

"CLEANLINESS is the heart and soul of sanitation," says Dr. Milton J. Rosenberg of the Harvard Medical School. "We are inclined to place it even below godliness, for cleanliness of body, cleanliness of mind and soul, cleanliness of our surroundings are essential to a full appreciation of the spiritual virtues. Our conception of cleanliness has changed with our advance in knowledge of the kinds of dirt, the degrees of dirtiness, and the nature of these dangers.

"It requires a bacteriologist to tell the difference between clean dirt and dirty dirt. We lack a sixth sense, or microscopic eye, to see and distinguish the harmful germs. We, therefore, must educate the people to the biological meaning of this term. Long experience has taught the lesson that cleanliness offers a protection against disease; that clean surroundings are apt to be free of infection; and that clean food is apt to be safe food."

Rice Parfait.

Soak 3 tablespoons rice in 1 cup cold water for 1 1/2 hours. Boil rice and put in double boiler with 2 1/2 cups milk and 1/2 cup sugar and boil for 2 1/2 hours, stirring constantly. Add 1 1/2 tablespoons vanilla, the cold water, a pinch of salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cool a bit, then fold in 1 pint of whipped cream. Pour into parfait or sherbet glasses and serve firm. (Note: An extra dab of whipped cream with a cherry atop is attractive before serving.)

What Some New Y Notables Are

By Belle Brummel.

SPRING hats in a wide diversity of silhouettes and materials were much in evidence at the docking of the Berengaria and offered an amusing contrast to the heavy wraps and fur coats worn by the storm-tossed travelers.

Some of the new modes emphasized were the collar cap developed in black felt and banded with straw, the medium-brimmed cloche fashioned of black or white crepe silk and most popular of all, though not quite so new, the cloche featuring the off-the-face movement. Skull caps of feathered straw, the lines of the hair were also seen on several of the fashionably clad women on the ship.

A wrap of black seal skin collared with white and accompanied by a small black felt hat worn by Kathleen Norris, returning on the Berengaria with her husband, was a short visit to Paris and London. The witty and genial "Tay O'Connor" was not far from Mrs. Norris. Further up the ship we met the beautiful Lady Diana Duff-Cooper wrapped in a very topcoat banded by sable and wearing a medium brimmed cloche of silk. One of two collarless tweed coats were glimpsed beneath the fur wraps and several three-piece suits of black worsted banded in white braid.

A bird's-eye view of the smart lining and supping places disclosed a variety of evening frocks. Black chiffons and sheer velvets prevailed at the Ritz, usually worn with ermine capes. A distinctive touch on one of the black silk dancing frocks consisted of rows and rows of narrow cream lace insertion used to form a border and deep border about the bottom of the bouffant skirt.

A warm shade of brown was the

A LOVER OF THE JUNGLE

What pleases me you may despise:
What I dislike you mayhap prize.
—Peter Rabbit.

PETER RABBIT was eager to know more about the tropical cousin who lives away down in the Sunny Southland called Panama, which is visited every fall by Scrapper the Kingbird on his way to lands ever farther south. Peter didn't know that he had a cousin there until Scrapper mentioned it. Then Peter was full of questions, as he always is.

"Are you quite sure about that?" Peter asked.

"What tall!" replied Scrapper, pretending that he didn't know.

"Why the tail of that cousin of mine way down there. You said it wasn't white and that it was shorter than mine," said Peter. "Are you sure about it?"

"Quite sure about it," replied Scrapper.

"Then said Peter, 'the baby rabbits cannot follow their mother's tail as my babies can. I think I prefer a white tail.'"

"But," pointed out Scrapper, "when they run they don't show a white tail to the other rabbits. Not having a white tail that shows of yours can disappear more easily than you can."

"Does he live in a dear old Berengaria?" asked Peter eagerly.

Scrapper shook his head. "No," he said. "He lives in the jungle, and a jungle is really what you call the Green Forest."

"Then he's like Jumper the hare, isn't he?" said Peter. "I mean, he's like him in choosing a place for his home."

"Somewhat," replied Scrapper. "He lives the deep jungle, but I think he likes even better the edge of the jungle, where the plants grow thicker. He is like you in that respect. He doesn't move about much during the day, so I haven't seen much of him. He likes the night best."

Peter nodded approvingly. "That's where he shows sense," said he. "Where does he spend the day?"

"Oh," replied Scrapper, "he spends it sitting in his form under a log or in some other place where he is well hidden. He is very quiet. And even if he does live way down where it is hot all the time, he certainly has learned the art of 'freezing.'"

"Way it is said to be 'freezing' is to be sure to avoid being seen. It is a matter that catches the eye. Peter Rabbit has saved his life more than once by freezing. An enemy has stepped close to him without seeing him, simply because he did not move."

Peter nodded his head approvingly. "Evidently my cousin has a little pathos," said he. "Does he have any private little paths which he uses at night after dark? So, you see, he is a real rabbit."

"And he doesn't know what new

The WIFE & CO.

THE STORY SO FAR.

Bob Brownell is engaged to Molly Anderson, and works for Mr. Frazier, head of a wholesale stationery house. The boss has said he doesn't want his men to marry; that wives are "grafters." Molly goes to see him. He offers her $1000 if she will go away and let Brownell alone. She rejects the money, but to save her sweetheart she decides to run away. As the last chapter ends she has sent her baggage to the depot and is walking to the train.

CHAPTER IV.

HABIT, and instinct, are stronger forces than we realize in our everyday lives. A man whose soul is torn with grief will puff a cigarette and carefully knock the ash into a tray—though he may not be aware that he does so. A woman, publicly sentenced to prison, will pause in the anteroom to powder her nose—though every nerve in her is quivering and in five minutes she will be in shrieking hysterics.

So Molly, giving up all her hope of happiness on her way to leave St. Louis and Bob Brownell forever, stopped now and then to look into the shop windows and study the displays of furniture and pretty things for brides to buy. She had been doing this for weeks, so she did it now.

She didn't cry. Her bosom didn't heave. She didn't gasp and turn away as she realized what she was doing. Instead she carefully inspected the design and weave of all the rugs she saw, and even went into doorways for a closer look at objects of unusual beauty.

Only a pitiful pucker of her lips and a pallor in her smooth cheeks gave notice that Molly was not enjoying her window shopping; that she was wretchedly unhappy.

At last she turned from Olive street and started along the quietest way to the station.

"Somebody ought to fix this sidewalk," complained a familiar voice behind her.

Molly turned. Mrs. Potter, in her purple, shabby best hat and her very red best coat, was kicking at a loose bit of cement upon the walk.

"What are you doing 'way down here?" demanded Molly, astonished.

"Following you," said the landlady. "I don't see what right you've got following me!"

"Afraid you'd go jump in the river," said Mrs. Potter, calmly. She took Molly by the arm, and steering her, proceeded toward the station. "Never can tell what a silly girl'll do, when she gets her first wallop. But I notice you're still looking at furniture!"

Molly's pale cheeks reddened. "I was just—I was—"

"I know," said Mrs. Potter, as the girl faltered over the words. "You were just looking at the things you might have had, if things had been different. I've been there myself. I do it yet—look at the things I might have had if I'd treated Bill Potter half decently. Where were you bound for?"

"The railroad," said Molly. Mrs. Potter had let go of her arm, and she was walking beside the older woman willingly.

"Selling home?"

"Yes—I haven't seen papa and mama for so long, I thought I'd better. Her chin was on her breast, but she spoke bravely enough.

Mrs. Potter snorted. "It isn't for love of your folks that you're going home. What happened, anyway?"

Molly sighed, and then proceeded to tell the story in full—all that she had said to Mr. Frazier, and all that he had said to her. "And I could see he was right," she added, dolefully. "I wouldn't be anything but a drag on Bob. He would ruin his life, maybe. So I decided to go away, and never let him hear from me any more, and some day when he's rich maybe he'll find another girl!"

This final picture was too much for Molly, and she burst into tears for the sixth or seventh time since Bob had brought his bad news the night before.

"Better come back to the flat," said Mrs. Potter. "I'll never go back," sobbed Molly. "I don't want Bob to find me, ever!"

The landlady spoke with determination. "Well, you can't go home to your own folks and spill tears all over the house. They'll think that something worse has happened to you. I know a decent little cheap hotel. Better stop there a day or two, and get yourself braced up."

She took Molly by the elbow and turning, guided her back the way they had come.

Fifteen minutes later they reached the place that Mrs. Potter had recommended. The lobby was very tiny, and a fat clerk was wedged behind a desk that seemed much too small for regular hotel keeping. It developed a moment later that the clerk was also the proprietor. He ushered the girl and the woman upstairs, and back through a long, dim corridor to a room at the far corner of the house.

Molly accepted the room, gave the fat man the checks for her trunk and suitcase, and sank limply on the bed.

"You stay here and sleep a couple of days," said Mrs. Potter, taking one of the chairs, and drawing

KEEN FOR NEW TRANSIT SURVEY

Repeats His View Expressed
6 Months Ago That Public Interest May Not Be Served by Extension of Surface Franchise.

Mayor Miller expects to be here in a few years, he not only interested in public affairs but bearing a share of responsibility for what may have transpired in the interim, and he doesn't want to be embarrassed by some pertinent "how did it come from" radiant citizens of this day. This interesting psychological fact may have an important influence on the city's future transportation, the plans for which are just now in the making, and which may have a bearing on the city's continuing application for a 30-year surface franchise.

The Mayor's observation was made yesterday during a conversation on his decision to sponsor the new Commission, empowered to determine how the city can best be served in the present and in the future. He was saying to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had spent much of his time during the past week wrestling with the problem in his mind and was indicating that now his decision was made, he would press for the necessary legislation with the Board, commonly known as the Board of Public Safety, and measure the favorably prophesied, in passing, that the bill creating the Commission would pass the Board of Aldermen unanimously, and before summer ad-

Looks Forward to 1938
The possible eventualities of 30 years obviously have been sinking into the Mayor's mind.

"No expert to whom I have talked either in St. Louis or in other cities has been able to tell me what traffic and transportation in a large city will be only 10 years hence," he said. "Certainly I do not want to put myself in a position of having people say to me 10 years from now: 'You passed up a franchise and look at the con-

The Mayor was reiterating and emphasizing a similar viewpoint expressed last July when he wrote to Frank O. Watta, chairman of the Organization Committee for the first railwaze:

"I am certain that it will be for the best interest of our public to enter into a franchise like the one under consideration, which will give over the use of our streets for 50 years, but would leave the company free to disregard its contract obligations under the franchise, a matter which the Public Service Commission or the Federal courts authorized it."

He added that he was giving the whole matter "careful consideration" and would announce his decision soon. His proposal or the useful survey before action apparently in the decision referred Possibilities of Franchise.

The reporter asked the Mayor what, in his opinion, would be the effect of a franchise for surface trolleys on a transit commission's mandate and its duty of consideration of the needs of the city.
"I don't think it would have serious bearing," the Mayor replied. "You see," he continued, "it is pretty clear now that any franchise for surface trolleys in the city might be granted, and which would not be the city's sole control over the acts of the company, would be little more than a gentlemen's agreement. It is not made only too plain that the Street Public Service Commission, and if not the commission, the courts, can overthrow any portion or all of such an agreement."
He then asked whether the commission had a franchise to consider all forms of transit in addition to the city's needs would make it advisable to defer consideration of a franchise for surface street cars until the commission had reached its conclusions as to the most economical mode of transit.
There may be no franchise for street cars for several years," he replied.
